Johnson to Check out

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson got a go-ahead from his doctors today to check out of the hospital Saturday and fly to his Texas ranch to recuperate.

Billy D. Moyers, White House press secretary, said the surgeons who operated on Johnson two days ago "are very satisfied with the President's recuperative progress" and that they are "quite pleased" that he was heading for the ranch to relax in the sunshine.

Moyers said all the doctors involved are satisfied that the chief executive has sufficiently recovered to leave the Bethesda Naval Hospital Saturday.

Johnson's recovery from Wednesday's surgery to remove a throat growth and repair an abdominal hernia has been such, Moyers said, that only the regular White House medical staff will accompany him to Texas.

Johnson met with Secretary of State Dean Rusk this morning.

While in Texas, Moyers said, the President will have conferences with government officials who will fly in to help him prepare next year's budget and legislative program.

Johnson may conduct some of his business at the federal office building near the Texas Capitol in Austin. For that reason, Moyers said, newsmen and photographers accompanying Johnson will be quartered in Austin rather than San Antonio, their recent base.

Johnson is expected to leave Andrews Air Force Base, Md., around midday and fly to Bergstrom Air Force Base, Austin. From there he will fly to the LBJ Ranch near Johnson City.

Moyers said he expects Johnson will go directly from the hospital at Andress, either by auto or helicopter, without stopping off at the White House.

In answer to a question, Moyers said Johnson's stitches would not be taken out before his departure.

Moyers said they "can be taken out down there (in Texas)" but when asked whether they would be removed at the ranch or at some hospital in the area, he said, "Let's wait and see."

Johnson told his doctors he felt "great" when he awakened this morning.

On the second full day after his double operation, Johnson still complained of soreness, however.

The White House said the President fell asleep about midnight — even before finishing his usual stack of evening reading — and did not awaken until almost 8 a.m. For him that was a late hour.

Before wading into some department reports, Johnson moved to a chair for a tray breakfast of melon balls, apple juice, chipped beef and tea.

The President's recovery so far has been routine — so much so that the latest White House statement on his progress contained no information of a medical nature.

Although Johnson said Thursday night he was "sore as if I was beat by a baseball bat" he's been working, talking — even celebrating.

Thursday night's medical bulletin said "he's still progressing." And there was no word to the contrary today.

Johnson did a bit of his progressing at a party in his Bethesda Naval Hospital suite, marking the 32nd anniversary of his marriage to Lady Bird.

It got under way late because the President napped until early evening.

When he awoke, Johnson donned street clothes for the first time since his surgery Wednesday morning.

The double operation removed a growth from his right vocal cord and repaired a rupture in the year-old scar left by his gall bladder operation.

"It hurts all the time," Johnson remarked at the anniversa-

Orbiter's Photos May Be Faulty

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Lunar Orbiter 2 made its first try today at photographing lunar terrain where astronauts may land—but the pictures may have been double exposures.

The Jet Propulsion Laboratory said telemetry from the spacecraft indicates that the shutter clicked twice as many times as it should have in a 16-frame sequence.

The photographs, expected to show surface details as small as three feet across, would have been the first capable of pinpointing potential sites for a planned manned moon landing by U.S. space voyagers later in this decade.

The laboratory issued this statement after the photo pass this morning: "An analysis of telementry indicates an irregularity which cannot be fully explained at this time. A counter used to monitor the shutter operation appears to have recorded twice the number of events called for."

A spokesman said it is possible that something is wrong with telemetry, and the shutter functioned properly. But if telemetry is correct, double exposures were likely.

What actually happened won't be known until picture transmissions to a tracking station at Madrid, Spain, are studied.

Orbiter's camera run was over a dry plain called the Sea of Tranquility.

There were to be two pictures on each of the 16 frames, one each from a high-resolution lens and a low-resolution lens.

The U.S. space agency had planned to release prints of one or more photos at Madrid several hours after the transmissions, with more released here tonight.

Technical problems blurred the hgh resolution pictures taken by Lunar Orbiter 1 in August. Its medium resolution photraphs did not show surtographs did not show surface roughness in the detail required by scientists seeking potential landing sites.

Gunfight Kills One, Injures 2

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Two policemen were shot and seriously wounded and a 22-year-old man was killed Thursday night when a gunfight erupted after the officers stopped a car that had been reported stolen.

Patrolmen Roy Grillion, 27, and David Lovelace, 29, were reported in serious condition at Homer G. Phillips Hospital. Grillion was shot in the face, Lovelace in the temple.

Police said the man killed was Leo C. Dansberry, 22, of St. Louis.

Dansberry was one of five passengers in the car stopped by Grillion and Lovelace after a three-block chase in northwest St. Louis.

The car hit a parked car, swerved and skidded to a halt. Dansberry, another youth and three young women were in the car.

Grillion and Lovelace asked the two young men to get out of the car and place their hands on top of the auto. They handcuffed the younger youth, and the shooting began.

The two officers were knocked to the ground by the impact of the close-range shots but returned fire before losing consciousness.

Patrolmen converging on the scene found Dansberry dead, shot in the chest.

The handcuffed youth fled as did the three girls.

Later police arrested Troy Brown, 20, of St. Louis in connection with the shooting.

Police also took into custody three girls all juveniles, and booked them with riding in a stolen auto.

Brown was booked and charged with assault with intent to kill and stealing over $50.

Police said Dansberry and Brown were among five persons in the car which was stopped by Grillion and Lovelace.

The four young people were captured in the vicinity of the accident scene.

Fire, Smoke Damage Shy's Stock Total Loss

SIKESTON'S VOLUNTEER firemen worked hard and long for a total of almost five hours in two separate calls Thursday to extinguish a fire at Shy's Rexall Drug Store in the Midtowner Village Shopping Center. Firemen worked the initial call from 3:35 p.m. till 8 p.m. Smouldering insulation burned in the three layer roof undetected for several hours. Then the fire department was called again at 9 p.m. Roofing was then removed by firemen who worked until 11:30 p.m. to extinguish the smouldering materials.

Fire and smoke damaged and destroyed the entire stock of drugs and sundry goods and much of the building at Shy's Rexall Drug Store in the Midtowner Village Shopping Center Thursday.

Insurance claim adjustors investigated the loss today. No estimate of loss was available.

David Shy, manager, said today that the entire stock of merchandise was damaged or destroyed by the fire and smoke.

Major damage was caused to the roof, the inside ceiling, the front windows, inside paint, fixtures and the wiring.

The built up roof covering the major portion of the building had to be removed late Thursday night when the smouldering insulation between the corrugated bottom layer of the roof and the built up tile covering continued to burn after the fire was believed to have been extinguished.

Sikeston firemen contained the fire to the drug store. They left after all smouldering smoke seemed to have stopped at about 6 p.m. Insulation continued to burn in the roof and fire flared again at 9 p.m. Most of the roof had to be removed from the building to finally extinguish the fire. Firemen completed work on the fire at 11:30 p.m.

Billy Ryan Construction Co., assessed building needs today. Other subcontractors viewed the damaged building, so work can begin immediately.

Contents of the building are expected to be sold today to a salvage dealer after the total loss is estimated. Construction is expected to get underway later today.

A temporary prescription service is being set up by Shy near the Country Kitchen section of Barkett's Big Star in the shopping center.

Completely new stock prescription drugs and materials for the prescription service will be purchased and stocked today, so the operation can be started tomorrow, Shy said.

Prescription files were contained in metal boxes in the building during the fire, so no records were lost, Shy quoted.

The fire was believed to have been caused by an explosion in the furnace at the rear of the building.

Mrs. Lorene Limbaugh, an employe, said she was talking to another girl in the store at about 3:30 p.m. when they heard a loud noise.

Mrs. Limbaugh said at first they thought it was a sonic boom, but when she glanced toward the rear of the building she saw flames shooting through a rear door leading to the drive-in window of the building.

"I ran to the telephone to report the fire. Then, I tried to call the manager, but the phone was dead," she said.

Three employes and a few customers in the store fled the building and warned neighboring stores in the shopping center complex.

Heavy smoke filled the building rapidly. The smoke enveloped most of the shopping center, the parking lot and slowed traffic on Malone Avenue in front of the building for about 15 minutes.

The first fire truck arrived at the rear of the building and extinguished flames on the

Oleda Schrottky Speaks at Annual Girl Scout Meeting

Miss Oleda Schrottky, former community relations leader of the National Girl Scout Council of New York City, now retired, told her audience last night, that "we need more quietness in our families today, as we have so little to do, due to the many electronic gadgets in our home."

She spoke to 240 persons, gathered at the American Legion Hall at the annual meeting of the Cotton Boll Girl Scout Council, Inc., representing 189 troops in 36 towns, with a membership of 3,050 Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Verne Johnson of Kennett, council president, presided at the evening program and banquet. The Girl Scout invocation was sung by Mrs. Jo Anne Fox and the address of welcome given by Mrs. L. M. Standley, past council president.

Honored for outstanding work in the Cotton Boll council were Mrs. Glenn Ault of Charleston, for her many years of service in scouting in her community, and as a member of the board of directors and Horace Dunagan of Caruthersville, for his work in the area of finance.

Mrs. Henry Cain, Jr., of Canalou, was chosen as second vice president of the council. The following officers' terms have not expired: Mrs. Johnson, president; Mrs. Thurston Hill of Dexter, first vice president; Mrs. W. Victor Hill of Dexter, secretary and William Werneck, treasurer.

New members chosen to the council board of directors were Mrs. Richard Hodder of Dexter, Mrs. W. S. Shelton III of Kennett; Mrs. James Ponder of Charleston; Mrs. D. J. Meredith of Caruthersville; Mrs. Aubra Wrather of Portageville; Mrs. Ernest West of Poplar Bluff; Mrs. James Spain of Bloomfield, and Mrs. William Huff. The report of the nominating committee was presented by Mrs. Tom Baker.

Organ music for the annual council meeting was furnished by Miss Kathryn Clark.

In her address, "Values to Hold, Words to Explore," Miss Schrottky eulogized the founder of the organization, Juliette Lowe. From a small beginning the Girl Scouts now have a membership of four and a half million girls.

"She was married to an Englishman, and although a beautiful girl and wealthy,

One Accident Reported

Two trucks were involved in the only area accident at the intersection of Route P and Route T, at LaForge, Thursday at 10:45 a.m.

A 1962 Chevrolet pickup, driven by William Williams, 57, East Prairie, failed to stop at a stop sign, and ran into a 1959 GMC pickup, driven by Charles Martin, 27, Kewanee. Neither driver received injury.

Four Americans Die Daily in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) - American deaths from all causes in Viet Nam now average slightly more than four a day since the first U.S. soldier, Spec. 4 James T. Davis of Livingston, Tenn., was killed in a Viet Cong ambush Dec. 22, 1961.

The total as of last Saturday was 7,292.

With casualties announced Thursday the Saigon count of combat dead, which has risen sharply with the increased American involvement this year, stood at 5,949. The Pentagon disclosed deaths from accidents and other nonhostile causes had climbed to 1,343.

Says 574 Votes Were Voided

Hahn Files Notice of Contest

The only interesting race in Scott County elections this year is not settled yet.

Harold Hahn, write in candidate for county collector, filed notice of election contest in circuit court in Benton Thursday, by which he is contesting the election of Aubrey Michael to the office of collector of revenue of Scott County.

Hahn contends in the notice that 574 votes cast in the Nov. 8 election were voided and that they should have been counted for him.

According to the official vote count announced by Phil Waldman, county clerk, Michael won the election by a margin of 345 votes.

If Hahn's contention is found to be correct and the votes are counted for him, he would top Michael's by a total margin of 229 votes.

In the notice filed against Michael's election, Hahn asked for a recount of the sealed votes. The recount has to be ordered by a circuit court judge, before the county clerk has authority for a recount.

Grounds stated in the notice of contest are:

1. One vote cast for "John Hahn" was not counted for Harold Hahn and it should have been, because the name is similar, Hahn says.

2. Hahn says the formal canvas showed 13 votes for Harold Hahn cast on the Republican portion of the ballots. He contends that since it was a general election, rather than a primary, he should receive those votes.

3. Five hundred and sixty write-in votes for Hahn were voided and not counted by election judges although properly cast, for him he states.

The notice of contest will be served to Michael by Scott County Sheriff John Dennis.

Once the notice is served, Michael will have a period of 15 days in which time he may appear in circuit court to answer the contest.

If Michael doesn't appear in court, Hahn will ask the judge for the recount, Kenneth Dement, attorney for Hahn said.

The circuit court has the authority to order the county clerk to open all ballots used at the election and have them inspected by representatives of both parties to determine if they were properly cast, Dement explained.

All ballots are required by law to be kept by the county clerk for a period of one year.

If a recount is ordered, the judge of the circuit court will decide if the contested ballots were properly marked, Dement said.

If Hahn is not satisfied with the decision of the judge the case can be appealed to the Missouri Supreme Court, Dement stated.

When asked if Hahn intended to go that far, Dement replied today that he did, if necessary. When you start something like this you might as well go all the way, he said.

3M Shows Interest In Sikeston

A group of 3M Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company engineers and operating officials visited Sikeston, Thursday, to evaluate the community as a possible site for a new plant location.

Herbert Parkinson, executive director of the firm's Central Engineering department, explained that the St. Paul, Minn., based company had narrowed the search down to three communities after investigating several locations in a number of states.

"We will make our recommendation after a thorough evaluation of the three locations," he said.

Italy Proposes Plan to Study Red China Seating

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Italy proposed today that the U.N. General Assembly establish a high-level study committee to seek a formula for breaking the 16-year deadlock over the seating of Red China.

The proposal was outlined by Senator Attilio Piccioni, head of the Italian delegation, as the 121-nation assembly launched a comprehensive debate on the China representation issue.

Piccioni called for a new approach, which would include discussions of the problem with the Peking government to ascertain whether it was willing to comply with provisions of the U.N. Charter. The committee would be asked to draw specific conclusions.

Piccioni did not mention the possibility of seeking a solution based on the concept of seating Red China without expelling the Chinese Nationalists — the so-called two-Chinas plan. This, however, has received wide discussion in private talks by Canada, Italy and others.

The Italian plan provided that the study be concluded before the meeting of the 1967 assembly, and that the committee should be made up of "persons of the greatest eminence and long international experience." Piccioni suggested that the group should be of restricted size.

Piccioni spoke after Cambodia, one of Red China's main sponsors in Asia, had denounced Nationalist China as a "clique installed by the United States" and rejected the concept of two Chinas in the United Nations.

Wei Tao-ming, Nationalist China's foreign minister, told the assembly his country categorically rejects any two-China formula for settling the representation issue.

As has been their custom, members of the Soviet bloc countries walked out on the Chinese Nationalist speaker as he took the rostrum.

Wei cited the actions of the "Red Guard" on the Chinese Communist mainland as evidence that the Red regime is falling apart.

"At a time when Peiping is in deep trouble," he said, "when the hopes for freedom and deliverance are brighter than ever before, the United Nations would be doing a great disservice to the Chinese people if it should put the seal of approval on the Chinese Communist regime and thus enhance its prestige.

"Internationally the effect would be equally disasterous."

Ambassador Huot Sambath spoke for Cabodia as consultations continued on new moves to break the deadlock.

Hero Inspired by Toy Soldiers

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

Bob Hibbs' father recalled that it seemed as if his son had been a soldier since he was a boy.

"Even as a small kid he had the ping pong table covered all the time with his war maneuvers," Walter Hibbs said.

Bob had assembled an extensive collection of miniature soldiers and equipment valued at several thousand dollars.

At 23, Lt. Bob Hibbs, of Cedar Falls, Iowa, was killed in action in Viet Nam. Although wounded twice, he returned to the scene of an ambush to help bring in a wounded comrade, and was killed.

Army Spec. 4 Danny Fernandez, 21, another veteran of the Viet Nam war, never thought of himself as a hero. He had been wounded but volunteered for another tour of combat duty after a trip home to Los Lunas, N.M. He was killed on his second tour when he smothered a Communist hand grenade with his body to save the rest of his patrol.

Hibbs and Fernandez will be awarded posthumously the Medal of Honor, the nation's highest decoration, at a date to be announced. President Johnson approved the awards for the two men Wednesday.

The President also announced that he would present the Medal of Honor to Army Spec. 6 Lawrence Joel, 38, who lives in Fayetteville, N. C., with his wife and two children, and 2nd Lt. Walter J. Marm Jr., 25, of Washington, Pa., for heroism in Viet Nam.

Joel, a medic with 17 years service, crawled to wounded Americans and gave them blood plasma and first aid after he had been shot in the leg. He was credited with saving the lives of 13 men.

Marm knocked out a Communist machine gun nest that had killed some of the men in his platoon and wounded him. Reports said he killed 18 Communists.

"It's an awesome honor," Danny Fernandez' father said. "For some humble family to get such an honor is staggering. He never thought of himself as a hero, so I don't know what he would think."

"Both myself and Bob's mother," said Walter Hibbs, "feel very humble --kind of a mixture of being humble mixed with pride and hurt."

"I'm very proud, to say the least," said Marm's father, Walter J. Marm, a retired state police officer. "To tell you the truth, I didn't know what kind of a soldier Joel would make. He'd never been in a fight in his life. I never heard him say 'hell' in all his life. I never knew him to be mad at anybody."

Lt. Hibbs joined the Army in August 1964 after he was graduated from the State College of Iowa, and had been in Viet Nam six months when he was killed. He had planned to marry Lynne Larson, a State College of Iowa coed, this autumn.

The Smithsonian Institution in Washington has asked for his collection of toy soldiers.

Oleda Schrottky Speaks at Annual Girl Scout Meeting

Miss Oleda Schrottky, former community relations leader of the National Girl Scout Council of New York City, now retired, told her audience last night, that "we need more quietness in our families today, as we have so little to do, due to the many electronic gadgets in our home."

She spoke to 240 persons, gathered at the American Legion Hall at the annual meeting of the Cotton Boll Girl Scout Council, Inc., representing 189 troops in 36 towns, with a membership of 3,050 Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Verne Johnson of Kennett, council president, presided at the evening program and banquet. The Girl Scout invocation was sung by Mrs. Jo Anne Fox and the address of welcome given by Mrs. L. M. Standley, past council president.

Honored for outstanding work in the Cotton Boll council were Mrs. Glenn Ault of Charleston, for her many years of service in scouting in her community, and as a member of the board of directors and Horace Dunagan of Caruthersville, for his work in the area of finance.

Mrs. Henry Cain, Jr., of Canalou, was chosen as second vice president of the council. The following officers' terms have not expired: Mrs. Johnson, president; Mrs. Thurston Hill of Dexter, first vice president; Mrs. W. Victor Hill of Dexter, secretary and William Werneck, treasurer.

New members chosen to the council board of directors were Mrs. Richard Hodder of Dexter, Mrs. W. S. Shelton III of Kennett; Mrs. James Ponder of Charleston; Mrs. D. J. Meredith of Caruthersville; Mrs. Aubra Wrather of Portageville; Mrs. Ernest West of Poplar Bluff; Mrs. James Spain of Bloomfield, and Mrs. William Huff. The report of the nominating committee was presented by Mrs. Tom Baker.

Organ music for the annual council meeting was furnished by Miss Kathryn Clark.

In her address, "Values to Hold, Words to Explore," Miss Schrottky eulogized the founder of the organization, Juliette Lowe. From a small beginning the Girl Scouts now have a membership of four and a half million girls.

"She was married to an Englishman, and although a beautiful girl and wealthy,

One Accident Reported

Two trucks were involved in the only area accident at the intersection of Route P and Route T, at LaForge, Thursday at 10:45 a.m.

A 1962 Chevrolet pickup, driven by William Williams, 57, East Prairie, failed to stop at a stop sign, and ran into a 1959 GMC pickup, driven by Charles Martin, 27, Kewanee. Neither driver received injury.

Four Americans Die Daily in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) - American deaths from all causes in Viet Nam now average slightly more than four a day since the first U.S. soldier, Spec. 4 James T. Davis of Livingston, Tenn., was killed in a Viet Cong ambush Dec. 22, 1961.

The total as of last Saturday was 7,292.

With casualties announced Thursday the Saigon count of combat dead, which has risen sharply with the increased American involvement this year, stood at 5,949. The Pentagon disclosed deaths from accidents and other nonhostile causes had climbed to 1,343.

Says 574 Votes Were Voided

Hahn Files Notice of Contest

The only interesting race in Scott County elections this year is not settled yet.

Harold Hahn, write in candidate for county collector, filed notice of election contest in circuit court in Benton Thursday, by which he is contesting the election of Aubrey Michael to the office of collector of revenue of Scott County.

Hahn contends in the notice that 574 votes cast in the Nov. 8 election were voided and that they should have been counted for him.

According to the official vote count announced by Phil Waldman, county clerk, Michael won the election by a margin of 345 votes.

If Hahn's contention is found to be correct and the votes are counted for him, he would top Michael's by a total margin of 229 votes.

In the notice filed against Michael's election, Hahn asked for a recount of the sealed votes. The recount has to be ordered by a circuit court judge, before the county clerk has authority for a recount.

Grounds stated in the notice of contest are:

1. One vote cast for "John Hahn" was not counted for Harold Hahn and it should have been, because the name is similar, Hahn says.

2. Hahn says the formal canvas showed 13 votes for Harold Hahn cast on the Republican portion of the ballots. He contends that since it was a general election, rather than a primary, he should receive those votes.

3. Five hundred and sixty write-in votes for Hahn were voided and not counted by election judges although properly cast, for him he states.

The notice of contest will be served to Michael by Scott County Sheriff John Dennis.

Once the notice is served, Michael will have a period of 15 days in which time he may appear in circuit court to answer the contest.

If Michael doesn't appear in court, Hahn will ask the judge for the recount, Kenneth Dement, attorney for Hahn said.

The circuit court has the authority to order the county clerk to open all ballots used at the election and have them inspected by representatives of both parties to determine if they were properly cast, Dement explained.

All ballots are required by law to be kept by the county clerk for a period of one year.

If a recount is ordered, the judge of the circuit court will decide if the contested ballots were properly marked, Dement said.

If Hahn is not satisfied with the decision of the judge the case can be appealed to the Missouri Supreme Court, Dement stated.

When asked if Hahn intended to go that far, Dement replied today that he did, if necessary. When you start something like this you might as well go all the way, he said.

3M Shows Interest In Sikeston

A group of 3M Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company engineers and operating officials visited Sikeston, Thursday, to evaluate the community as a possible site for a new plant location.

Herbert Parkinson, executive director of the firm's Central Engineering department, explained that the St. Paul, Minn., based company had narrowed the search down to three communities after investigating several locations in a number of states.

"We will make our recommendation after a thorough evaluation of the three locations," he said.

Italy Proposes Plan to Study Red China Seating

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Italy proposed today that the U.N. General Assembly establish a high-level study committee to seek a formula for breaking the 16-year deadlock over the seating of Red China.

The proposal was outlined by Senator Attilio Piccioni, head of the Italian delegation, as the 121-nation assembly launched a comprehensive debate on the China representation issue.

Piccioni called for a new approach, which would include discussions of the problem with the Peking government to ascertain whether it was willing to comply with provisions of the U.N. Charter. The committee would be asked to draw specific conclusions.

Piccioni did not mention the possibility of seeking a solution based on the concept of seating Red China without expelling the Chinese Nationalists — the so-called two-Chinas plan. This, however, has received wide discussion in private talks by Canada, Italy and others.

The Italian plan provided that the study be concluded before the meeting of the 1967 assembly, and that the committee should be made up of "persons of the greatest eminence and long international experience." Piccioni suggested that the group should be of restricted size.

Piccioni spoke after Cambodia, one of Red China's main sponsors in Asia, had denounced Nationalist China as a "clique installed by the United States" and rejected the concept of two Chinas in the United Nations.

Wei Tao-ming, Nationalist China's foreign minister, told the assembly his country categorically rejects any two-China formula for settling the representation issue.

As has been their custom, members of the Soviet bloc countries walked out on the Chinese Nationalist speaker as he took the rostrum.

Wei cited the actions of the "Red Guard" on the Chinese Communist mainland as evidence that the Red regime is falling apart.

"At a time when Peiping is in deep trouble," he said, "when the hopes for freedom and deliverance are brighter than ever before, the United Nations would be doing a great disservice to the Chinese people if it should put the seal of approval on the Chinese Communist regime and thus enhance its prestige.

"Internationally the effect would be equally disasterous."

Ambassador Huot Sambath spoke for Cabodia as consultations continued on new moves to break the deadlock.

Hero Inspired by Toy Soldiers

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

Bob Hibbs' father recalled that it seemed as if his son had been a soldier since he was a boy.

"Even as a small kid he had the ping pong table covered all the time with his war maneuvers," Walter Hibbs said.

Bob had assembled an extensive collection of miniature soldiers and equipment valued at several thousand dollars.

At 23, Lt. Bob Hibbs, of Cedar Falls, Iowa, was killed in action in Viet Nam. Although wounded twice, he returned to the scene of an ambush to help bring in a wounded comrade, and was killed.

Army Spec. 4 Danny Fernandez, 21, another veteran of the Viet Nam war, never thought of himself as a hero. He had been wounded but volunteered for another tour of combat duty after a trip home to Los Lunas, N.M. He was killed on his second tour when he smothered a Communist hand grenade with his body to save the rest of his patrol.

Hibbs and Fernandez will be awarded posthumously the Medal of Honor, the nation's highest decoration, at a date to be announced. President Johnson approved the awards for the two men Wednesday.

The President also announced that he would present the Medal of Honor to Army Spec. 6 Lawrence Joel, 38, who lives in Fayetteville, N. C., with his wife and two children, and 2nd Lt. Walter J. Marm Jr., 25, of Washington, Pa., for heroism in Viet Nam.

Joel, a medic with 17 years service, crawled to wounded Americans and gave them blood plasma and first aid after he had been shot in the leg. He was credited with saving the lives of 13 men.

Marm knocked out a Communist machine gun nest that had killed some of the men in his platoon and wounded him. Reports said he killed 18 Communists.

"It's an awesome honor," Danny Fernandez' father said. "For some humble family to get such an honor is staggering. He never thought of himself as a hero, so I don't know what he would think."

"Both myself and Bob's mother," said Walter Hibbs, "feel very humble — kind of a mixture of being humble mixed with pride and hurt."

"I'm very proud, to say the least," said Marm's father, Walter J. Marm, a retired state police officer. "To tell you the truth, I didn't know what kind of a soldier Joel would make. He'd never been in a fight in his life. I never heard him say 'hell' in all his life. I never knew him to be mad at anybody."

Lt. Hibbs joined the Army in August 1964 after he was graduated from the State College of Iowa, and had been in Viet Nam six months when he was killed. He had planned to marry Lynne Larson, a State College of Iowa coed, this autumn.

The Smithsonian Institution in Washington has asked for his collection of toy soldiers.

Fire Levels House Today In Miner

A single story wood frame house in Miner was destroyed by fire early today, Sikeston's volunteer fire department reported today.

No one was in the house when the fire occurred. It is owned by Joel A. Montgomery and was rented by Gene Gadberry, firemen said.

The fire department was called at 3:20 a.m. Firemen said the cause of the fire was undetermined. Firemen returned at 4:40 a.m.

Thursday afternoon at 1 p.m. the fire department was called to extinguish a grass fire on Davis Road near the Joe Baker residence. No damage was caused.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

LINCOLN'S GETTYSBURG ADDRESS - Delivered Nov. 19, 1863.

Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place of those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

Christmas buying was well underway in November this year. For many it started in January.

The trend which is leveling the peaks of seasonal buying is economically helpful to both retailers and consumers.

Consistent sales throughout the year reduces costs for manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers. Personnel and space is used more efficiently. Investment risk is reduced.

In a competitive economy, savings made at each step are ultimately passed on to the consumer. Thus, advertising which brings about the purchase of fur coats in August may honestly promise dramatic bargains.

Advertising designed to stimulate off-season buying is always long-range. It may require a decade or more to change fixed shopping habits.

But such advertising has been effective. It has changed the nature of grocery sales. It has created the January white sales. It is now selling Christmas toys in July.

In each case, foresighted consumers have gained from the increased efficiency in production stimulated by off-season advertising.

For more than a year, our columnist Victor Riesel has been reporting - with full documentation - that corruption in Saigon has been sucking away hundreds of million of dollars worth of American military and civilian supplies.

Month after month, with good hard leg work, long hours at the telephone, steady buttonholing of scores of men returning from the clogged ports in South Viet Nam, Victor Riesel has pieced together the story of red tape that strangles, looting that diverts to the Viet Cong, and deliberate sabotage of U.S. transport efforts by Vietnamese port agents and customs officials.

Now the story is on the nation's front pages. The Associated Press has done a survey which corroborated Riesel's storeis detail by detail.

Months ago Riesel reported that there had been no central aduitor in Saigon despite the hundreds of millions of dollars worth of U.S. supplies shipped in. On Nov. 13 this was corroborated by the AP.

Riesel filed that story on March 28. Then he said: "Multimillion Dollar Flow of U.S. Goods into Viet Nam Went Unaudited Despite Heavy Pilferage by Black Marketeers There."

On that same day, in that same column, Victor Riesel also disclosed "...some 40 per cent of American AID cargo is speeding into the Viet Nam black market..."

Riesel gave his sources then - almost eight months ago.

On Sunday, Nov. 13, the AP story was headlined on the front page of the New York Times as "Corruption Is Taking Up to 40 Per Cent of U.S. Assistance in Viet Nam."

Thus another of our columnist's crusading and documented exposures is corroborated and now finally is getting action.

To be with Riesel is to be ahead of the news.

Nearly 75 per cent of all highway deaths occur on rural roads, according to a 1965 report by the National Safety Council.

Among rural-road problems are slow-moving vehicles, poor road signs, intersections obscured by tall crops and brush, dangerous railroad crossings, and unsurfaced narrow roads.

You are most likely to lose your life when driving on a rural road at night, according to the National Safety Council. You can't detect rural danger spots, especially because many rural roads lack modern aids for night visibility, such as light-reflective signs that a driver can see for 2,000 feet and more, and reflective road-edge markings.

"Reflective materials haven't been used on rural roads as much as they should be," says Howard Bussard, county engineer for the Automotive Safety Foundation of Washington, D.C.

Reducing accidents on rural roads is a problem that was tackled by the National Grange during its 1964 convention. The traffic safety program adopted by the Grange includes:

--Uniform signs, signals and markers.

--Compulsory mechanical inspection of motor vehicles.

--Improved visibility along railroad rights of way and reflectors on railroad cars.

--Better control of excessive speed.

--Additional state police officers.

The Automotive Safety Foundation found in a study reported in "Traffic Control and Roadway Elements" (1963) that smoothing sharp curves on rural roads can cut accidents as much as 80 per cent. Large, legible warning signs that indicate safe speed well in advance of a curve can reduce accidents by one-half.

* * *

The manly - and womanly - art of self-defense could help eliminate nine out of ten traffic accidents, says the National Safety Council.

What the Council is talking about involves keeping your fists firmly on the steering wheel. They aren't encouraging the use of boxing gloves.

The Council has started a vast "defensive driving" program aimed at teaching every driver how to stay alive no matter what others of our 90-million drivers do.

It's sort of like a Red Cross life-saving course," explains Harry Porter Jr., manager of the Council's traffic department.

It's an eight-hour course, and it is designed to teach drivers what "defensive positions" to hold in six specific situations; when another vehicle is in front, behind, on the right, on the left, when another driver is trying to pass, and when the driver himself is trying to pass.

Students taking the course are also advised to:

--Know and obey all traffic rules;

--Stay alert at all times for illegal acts and driving errors by other drivers;

--Adjust your driving to unusual or changing conditions.

The course also builds drivers' confidence in their ability to drive safely and avoid preventable accidents.

So far, industry and other driver-training programs have taken a big interest in the Council's course, Porter says.

WHAT IT COSTS TO REAR A CHILD

The cost of rearing that cooing infant until he is 18, the Catholic Digest estimates, will be $12,000 if your standard of living is modest, about $20,000 for a comfortably-off farm family, and more for wealthy parents.

These figures do not include college.

Broken down, the costs are:

Doctor and hospital at birth: $200-600.

Illnesses: $1,000. Double or triple that if surgery or braces are needed.

Food (including occasional meals for friends): $10,000. ($500 less for girls.)

Clothing: $2,500. (higher for girls.)

Incidentials: Add haircuts, permanents, toys, entertainment, music or dancing lessons, vacations.

A TALE OF TWO CITIES

A few days ago, we saw a letter designed by a small Eastern corporation to accompany its payroll checks. It read:

"Dear Fellow Worker: As required by law, we have deducted from your pay checks this month a total of $____. Add this amount to the checks you have received and you will have your total earnings for the month.

"The above deduction is claimed by the Government as an advance payment upon your Federal Income Tax for the year. Withdrawing this part of your earnings and forwarding it to the Government is part of our cost of doing business. Every employer is governed by the same Government requirement; the expense of retaining and forwarding employee taxes is part of his operating costs and must be charged to you when you buy his products or services.

"In addition to the above taxes which you have paid, each corporation is taxed 22% of its earnings up to $25,000, and 48% of all additional earnings. . . ."

The same day's mail brought the story of an Illinois businessman who opened a dry-cleaning establishment back in 1939. Like many another enterprising beginner, he framed the first dollar bill his business took in, posted it in a prominent place in the waiting-room, and dated it with the year, 1939. During the war years, while he slogged through Europe, his wife and sister-in-law kept the door open and the clientele coming. Beginning in post-war 1949, he enlarged the frame for the first dollar bill to permit space for printing beneath it the current value of that dollar according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics consumer price index. By 1949, that dollar was worth 75.2 cents. The sign now reads 44.7 cents.

AN ESSENTIAL PROTECTION

Should workers have the right to decide, through a secret ballot, whether or not they want a union to represent them in negotiations with management?

It's a safe bet that the vast majority of Americans--including union members--would answer that question with a resounding "Yes!". But, as of now, that right is not guaranteed. The National Labor Relations Board accepts authorization cards as valid evidence of a worker's wishes. This card states, in large letters, that "I Want An N.L.R.B. Election Now." Below, in small letters, the union is given a blank check to act as the bargaining agent. This eliminates the secret ballot. And, as newspapers around the country have been pointing out, the authorization card can be the source of all kinds of coercion and abuses of power.

So it is proposed that the Taft-Hartley Act be amended to provide for a secret ballot election, conducted by the Board, whenever employees are called upon to choose a bargaining agent. In such an election, coercion would be impossible, and there would be no doubt as to what the majority desired. The right-to-vote is certainly an essential protection for the working man.

"What's the idea of yelling Fire," demanded the Chief. "There's no fire here."

H. L. Hunt Says

PLANS FOR RATIONING

Reliable reports from Washington warn that just as soon as the November Congressional elections are over, official administration plans will be unveiled for widespread price and wage controls and a return to rationing, an affliction Americans have not had to bear since World War II.

Under any system of rationing, government dictates just how much of certain goods anyone may buy. Controls so drastic can only be justified when the survival or the nation itself is at stake, as it was after the attack on Pearl Harbor.

The Vietnam war, serious and important thought it is, certainly does not represent a threat to the nation so great as to justify the total government control over the economy and the individual consumer that rationing involves, although the Vietnam war will be used as an excuse. The real reason for these plans must be the desire of highly placed administration officials, concerned about present trends in the economy, to concentrate power over the economy in their own hands.

Our present economic difficulties are caused by too much government interference and too much government spending. They cannot be cured by more doses of the same poison. Price and wage controls and rationing would deprive Americans of fundamental liberties while placing no check whatever on the continued growth and spending of government.

An aroused public opinion calls a halt, needed. We should satisfy ourselves if the report is true that the Office of Emergency Planning at the White House has drafted its plans and a printer for the ration books has actually been selected. HLH

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

LOS ANGELES -- The biggest electric power contract in history is being signed today (Nov. 18) between the defeated Brown administration in California and three giant private utility companies, plus the city of Los Angeles Department of Water and Power.

The contract is to supply the electric power to pump the equivalent of an entire river 3,100 feet over the Tehachapi mountains, as part of the Pat Brown program to bring Northern California water some 500 miles down to parched Southern California.

Despite the fact that Gov. Brown will leave office Jan. 1, his director of water resources, William Warne, who also retires Jan. 1, is pushing hard to wrap up most of the details for the giant water project. Warne already has repayment contracts signed with users in over thirty water districts whereby they will buy the new water, thus relieving California taxpayers of paying for the project.

Director Warne has held one - half of one per cent of water in reserve for small users who may come in later. Aside from this, all the water is contracted for. This means that the huge bond issue of $1,750,000,000 voted by Californians in the November 1960 election to pay for the canal, tunnels, pumps, etc. will all be paid off on schedule.

Significantly, when Gov. Brown proposed taking Northern California water south over a canal 444 miles long and up over a 3,000 - foot chain of mountains, his biggest opponents were in Northern California. His chief supporters were the people who needed the water most, in Southern California.

But in last week's election it was Southern Californians who defeated the man who had the vision to take care of their water needs.

Meanwhile, the project is progressing rapidly. A total of 228 miles of the 444 - mile Canal has been either completed or is under construction. The tunnels are all under contract. The water will reach the rich agriculture area of Kern County in 1968, where Bakersfield, its county seat, voted against Brown.

In 1971 Los Angeles County, which also voted overwhelmingly against Brown, will get the water so necessary to its expansion. In 1972, Riverside, south of Los Angeles and on the edge of a desert, will also get water.

The California water project compares with the Aswan Dam on the Nile River, dedicated in 1964 by Nikita Khrushchev. But in contrast with Aswan which has received world publicity, the California project is scarcely known outside the state.

DIRECTOR OF WATER

The man whom Gov. Brown picked to handle the waterway is Bill Warne, Assistant Secretary of the interior in the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. He also worked in water - parched Iran under Foreign Aid Administrator Harold Stassen, one - time Republican candidate for President.

"I have worked with a lot of guys," Warne told me, "Ickes, Oscar Chapman, Julius Krug when they were secretaries of the interior. And I worked with Harold Stassen overseas. All were good men. But I think Pat Brown is the best of the lot. I don't mean to downgrade the others. But Brown has vision and great natural administration ability."

The contract being signed today is with Pacific Gas and Electric, Southern California Edison and San Diego Gas and Electric. All three, plus the city of Los Angeles Department of Water and Power, will cooperate to put Northern California water over the Tehachapi. The contract is for the low price of three mills.

"We get this low price because we are using dump power," explained Warne. "We won't need to run the pumps to full capacity at first. Later we will. And to protect us against heavier charges from the utilities, we have left the window open in our contract to build an atomic energy plant to take care of the extra load.

"This couldn't have been done without a strong and understanding man in the governor's office," added Warne. "I hate to see the governor not here when we dedicate this poject.

BROWN'S FUTURE

Pat Brown is now trying to figure out what he should do as a private citizen.

"I have spent 23 years working for the people," Brown told a friend shortly after his defeat. "And it's going to be difficult to readjust myself. I get a small pension, but you can't save any money when you're working for the government, and I've got to find a job right away. I can't practice law very well. I've appointed 400 judges and I can't appear before them. And I can't appear before the commissions and state boards of California because I appointed many of the commissioners. Besides, I don't think it's right for a former governor to use his influence before state agencies.

"We have a little house in San Francisco, but our daughter's occupying that; so we'll probably come down and live in Los Angeles."

Brown has had proposals to write a newspaper column and a book. He hasn't made up his mind exactly what we will do except that he will live in Los Angeles. His neighbors on South Muirfield where he now lives seem to like him. On Halloween the neighbors' children came over and had such a wonderful time riding around with the Governor of California that they went home and told their fathers and mothers to vote for him.

Most of the parents disregarded their children's advice. But Mrs. Joe Shell, wife of the Republican leader of the California assembly, who ran against Nixon for Governor in the Republican primary in 1962, brought a homemaked lemon pie as her small token of appreciation.

White House Plans No Push For 1967 Legal Freeze on Wages, Prices or Profits.

Washington, D. C.: -- Really, there are only a few shopping days left 'til Christmas. But one of the things President Johnson and his White House inner circle positively are not packaging this season is a new wage - price law.

So it can definitely reflect the President's thinking to report that there will be no wage freeze in 1967. Nor will there be a price or profit freeze.

Contrary to what is being mongered at "in" bars and off-the-record discussions, Mr. Johnson has given no orders for any action on the wage-price "matter". He has not gone near the subject.

There is virtually no staff work on wage - price proposals. There might be some "embryonic" piecing together of statistics and consensus "later," perhaps in December, maybe in January, "maybe."

Barring some cataclysm in Viet Nam, the entire matter of laying ceilings on wages, fringes, benefits or prices by law will take months even to get to the formal talking stage.

The President would have to decide policy -- which he hasn't. The staff would have to develop volumes of research -- which it hasn't. The Council of Economic Advisers would have to go to some retreat and come up with supporting documentation, which it could easily do -- but hasn't. Then would have to come discussions with the cabinet members, which are not even foreseen.

So, in the words of one who truly would know because he would be in on the action earliest:

"A wage - price freeze is not in the cards in our present world."

Officially, the government's "marching orders on wage package increases in 1967 are still as strong as ever on 3.2 per cent yearly increase," said the man.

This means that the White House will continue to insist that anything higher than a $3.20-a-week increase on a hundred dollars worth of cash earnings and benefits is inflationary, undesirable and unpatriotic.

The layman should know that the 3.2 per cent raise was decided on by the President's Council of Economic Advisers because it believed that, over the long pull (a decade or so), that was the increase of speed of production per man. There are other such percentage figures for the year 1965 and for the five years preceding that. But the long - pull theory puts the increase which a worker should get in these United States at 3.2 per cent a year.

There are the sophists who say this is good economics -- but bad politics. And, they add, good politics makes bad economics. And inflation, too.

Regardless of what the White House thinks or does or seeks in quiet pre - crisis talks, 1967 will be the beginning of a new wage spiral. Whatever happens until Sept. 2, will be toy room stuff. On that date there expire the major agreements between Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers and the automobile industry.

The cash and what - can - not - be - carried package which Reuther and his high command will seek will top many times the 3.2 per cent.

In addition to many new benefits there is heavy pressure in the auto union for walloping big cash raises -- especially for the skilled tradesmen who number many scores of thousands. The pencil work and the verbiage will be fixed at a national conference next spring. But they'll make the wage guideline of 3.2 per cent increase look like an Oliver Twist portion.

And Reuther is prepared to strike -- and strike long -- for his demands. By late next summer the auto union will have a huge war chest.

"We believe that our Strike Fund, by Sept. 1, 1967," said auto union treasurer Emil Mazey, "the termination date of our collective bargaining agreements, will be about $60 million, which should be large enough to meet the 1967 collective bargaining needs of our union."

This hawk talk by Mr. Mazey (a dove internationally) is blunt. Certainly the White House is aware that any freeze it would attempt would be melted by next summer's hot crisis. So why complicate matters with new laws fixing the wage - price guidelines?

Each crisis will be met as it explodes.

NEW YORK AP - Santa Claus, that merry merchant, is ringing the cash register early this year.

An ornate ule tree has stood for a couple of weeks now in the window of a prominent Fifth avenue store, reminding depressed passers-by that mankind's annual orgy of good will is nigh.

It seems to get higher sooner with each succeeding season.

Riding to work in a cab the other morning, we passed a huge unlit electronic Christmas tree climbing the side of another Fifth Avenue building.

The driver noted it gloomily and said:

"I guess I'll surprise my wife and let her get her teeth capped this Christmas. Well, why not? After all, it's only money."

And then he added moodily! "The trouble with Christmas any more is that by the time it gets here it's stale already."

Now isn't that true?

It is impossible to celebrate more than one holiday at a time, and a growing number of people are resenting the trend to an earlier, ever earlier, Christmas.

For one thing, it is infringing on one of our oldest and most festive national holidays-Thanksgiving. Thanksgiving is one of the most profound expressions of mankind, as deeply religious in its essence as Christmas and even wider in a way because its gratitude to the Creator is bound by no particular creed.

It celebrates the harvest and man's eternal victory over winter and hunger.

But it is getting impossible to pay Thanksgiving its proper due with Santa Claus rushing on stage yelling "Ho, Ho, Ho!"

When President Johnson issued his annual Thanksgiving proclamation, it might have been a good idea if he had coupled it with a quiet order to U.S. customs inspectors along the Canadian border:

"If a fat guy wearing whiskers and a red suit shows up, keep him out of the country at least until the first of December. If he makes a fuss, tell him you suspect one of his reindeer has the foot-and-mouth disease. Check his license. See if he's driving a stolen sled."

In many cases it is less a celebration than participation in mass hysteria.

Christmas is getting to be such a year-round industry that, sooner or later, in some household a kid looking for hidden Easter eggs will be startled to see Santa Claus sliding down the chimney in a straw hat.

Editor's note: Don't pay any attention to Hal Boyle. He just opened his wife's letter to Santa Claus and found she wants a fur coat for Christmas. That's enough to upset any husband.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

LINCOLN'S GETTYSBURG ADDRESS - Delivered Nov. 19, 1863.

Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place of those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

Christmas buying was well underway in November this year. For many it started in January.

The trend which is leveling the peaks of seasonal buying is economically helpful to both retailers and consumers.

Consistent sales throughout the year reduces costs for manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers. Personnel and space is used more efficiently. Investment risk is reduced.

In a competitive economy, savings made at each step are ultimately passed on to the consumer. Thus, advertising which brings about the purchase of fur coats in August may honestly promise dramatic bargains.

Advertising designed to stimulate off-season buying is always long-range. It may require a decade or more to change fixed shopping habits.

But such advertising has been effective. It has changed the nature of grocery sales. It has created the January white sales. It is now selling Christmas toys in July.

In each case, foresighted consumers have gained from the increased efficiency in production stimulated by off-season advertising.

For more than a year, our columnist Victor Riesel has been reporting - with full documentation - that corruption in Saigon has been sucking away hundreds of million of dollars worth of American military and civilian supplies.

Month after month, with good hard leg work, long hours at the telephone, steady buttonholing of scores of men returning from the clogged ports in South Viet Nam, Victor Riesel has pieced together the story of red tape that strangles, looting that diverts to the Viet Cong, and deliberate sabotage of U.S. transport efforts by Vietnamese port agents and customs officials.

Now the story is on the nation's front pages. The Associated Press has done a survey which corroborated Riesel's storeis detail by detail.

Months ago Riesel reported that there had been no central aduitor in Saigon despite the hundreds of millions of dollars worth of U.S. supplies shipped in. On Nov. 13 this was corroborated by the AP.

Riesel filed that story on March 28. Then he said: "Multimillion Dollar Flow of U.S. Goods into Viet Nam Went Unaudited Despite Heavy Pilferage by Black Marketeers There."

On that same day, in that same column, Victor Riesel also disclosed "...some 40 per cent of American AID cargo is speeding into the Viet Nam black market..."

Riesel gave his sources then - almost eight months ago.

On Sunday, Nov. 13, the AP story was headlined on the front page of the New York Times as "Corruption Is Taking Up to 40 Per Cent of U.S. Assistance in Viet Nam."

Thus another of our columnist's crusading and documented exposures is corroborated and now finally is getting action.

To be with Riesel is to be ahead of the news.

Nearly 75 per cent of all highway deaths occur on rural roads, according to a 1965 report by the National Safety Council.

Among rural-road problems are slow-moving vehicles, poor road signs, intersections obscured by tall crops and brush, dangerous railroad crossings, and unsurfaced narrow roads.

You are most likely to lose your life when driving on a rural road at night, according to the National Safety Council. You can't detect rural danger spots, especially because many rural roads lack modern aids for night visibility, such as light-reflective signs that a driver can see for 2,000 feet and more, and reflective road-edge markings.

"Reflective materials haven't been used on rural roads as much as they should be," says Howard Bussard, county engineer for the Automotive Safety Foundation of Washington, D.C.

Reducing accidents on rural roads is a problem that was tackled by the National Grange during its 1964 convention. The traffic safety program adopted by the Grange includes:

--Uniform signs, signals and markers.

--Compulsory mechanical inspection of motor vehicles.

--Improved visibility along railroad rights of way and reflectors on railroad cars.

--Better control of excessive speed.

--Additional state police officers.

The Automotive Safety Foundation found in a study reported in "Traffic Control and Roadway Elements" (1963) that smoothing sharp curves on rural roads can cut accidents as much as 80 per cent. Large, legible warning signs that indicate safe speed well in advance of a curve can reduce accidents by one-half.

* * *

The manly - and womanly - art of self-defense could help eliminate nine out of ten traffic accidents, says the National Safety Council.

What the Council is talking about involves keeping your fists firmly on the steering wheel. They aren't encouraging the use of boxing gloves.

The Council has started a vast "defensive driving" program aimed at teaching every driver how to stay alive no matter what others of our 90-million drivers do.

It's sort of like a Red Cross life-saving course," explains Harry Porter Jr., manager of the Council's traffic department.

It's an eight-hour course, and it is designed to teach drivers what "defensive positions" to hold in six specific situations; when another vehicle is in front, behind, on the right, on the left, when another driver is trying to pass, and when the driver himself is trying to pass.

Students taking the course are also advised to:

--Know and obey all traffic rules;

--Stay alert at all times for illegal acts and driving errors by other drivers;

--Adjust your driving to unusual or changing conditions.

The course also builds drivers' confidence in their ability to drive safely and avoid preventable accidents.

So far, industry and other driver-training programs have taken a big interest in the Council's course, Porter says.

WHAT IT COSTS TO REAR A CHILD

The cost of rearing that cooing infant until he is 18, the Catholic Digest estimates, will be $12,000 if your standard of living is modest, about $20,000 for a comfortably-off farm family, and more for wealthy parents.

These figures do not include college.

Broken down, the costs are:

Doctor and hospital at birth: $200-600.

Illnesses: $1,000. Double or triple that if surgery or braces are needed.

Food (including occasional meals for friends): $10,000. ($500 less for girls.)

Clothing: $2,500. (higher for girls.)

Incidentials: Add haircuts, permanents, toys, entertainment, music or dancing lessons, vacations.

A TALE OF TWO CITIES

A few days ago, we saw a letter designed by a small Eastern corporation to accompany its payroll checks. It read:

"Dear Fellow Worker: As required by law, we have deducted from your pay checks this month a total of $____. Add this amount to the checks you have received and you will have your total earnings for the month.

"The above deduction is claimed by the Government as an advance payment upon your Federal Income Tax for the year. Withdrawing this part of your earnings and forwarding it to the Government is part of our cost of doing business. Every employer is governed by the same Government requirement; the expense of retaining and forwarding employee taxes is part of his operating costs and must be charged to you when you buy his products or services.

"In addition to the above taxes which you have paid, each corporation is taxed 22% of its earnings up to $25,000, and 48% of all additional earnings. . . ."

The same day's mail brought the story of an Illinois businessman who opened a dry-cleaning establishment back in 1939. Like many another enterprising beginner, he framed the first dollar bill his business took in, posted it in a prominent place in the waiting-room, and dated it with the year, 1939. During the war years, while he slogged through Europe, his wife and sister-in-law kept the door open and the clientele coming. Beginning in post-war 1949, he enlarged the frame for the first dollar bill to permit space for printing beneath it the current value of that dollar according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics consumer price index. By 1949, that dollar was worth 75.2 cents. The sign now reads 44.7 cents.

AN ESSENTIAL PROTECTION

Should workers have the right to decide, through a secret ballot, whether or not they want a union to represent them in negotiations with management?

It's a safe bet that the vast majority of Americans--including union members--would answer that question with a resounding "Yes!". But, as of now, that right is not guaranteed. The National Labor Relations Board accepts authorization cards as valid evidence of a worker's wishes. This card states, in large letters, that "I Want An N.L.R.B. Election Now." Below, in small letters, the union is given a blank check to act as the bargaining agent. This eliminates the secret ballot. And, as newspapers around the country have been pointing out, the authorization card can be the source of all kinds of coercion and abuses of power.

So it is proposed that the Taft-Hartley Act be amended to provide for a secret ballot election, conducted by the Board, whenever employees are called upon to choose a bargaining agent. In such an election, coercion would be impossible, and there would be no doubt as to what the majority desired. The right-to-vote is certainly an essential protection for the working man.

"What's the idea of yelling Fire," demanded the Chief. "There's no fire here."

"What you want me to holler?" answered the irate guest. "Crap?"

PLANS FOR RATIONING

Reliable reports from Washington warn that just as soon as the November Congressional elections are over, official administration plans will be unveiled for widespread price and wage controls and a return to rationing, an affliction Americans have not had to bear since World War II.

Under any system of rationing, government dictates just how much of certain goods anyone may buy. Controls so drastic can only be justified when the survival or the nation itself is at stake, as it was after the attack on Pearl Harbor.

The Vietnam war, serious and important thought it is, certainly does not represent a threat to the nation so great as to justify the total government control over the economy and the individual consumer that rationing involves, although the Vietnam war will be used as an excuse. The real reason for these plans must be the desire of highly placed administration officials, concerned about present trends in the economy, to concentrate power over the economy in their own hands.

Our present economic difficulties are caused by too much government interference and too much government spending. They cannot be cured by more doses of the same poison. Price and wage controls and rationing would deprive Americans of fundamental liberties while placing no check whatever on the continued growth and spending of government.

An aroused public opinion calls a halt, if needed. We should satisfy ourselves if the report is true that the Office of Emergency Planning at the White House has drafted its plans and a printer for the ration books has actually been selected. HLH

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

LOS ANGELES -- The biggest electric power contract in history is being signed today (Nov. 18) between the defeated Brown administration in California and three giant private utility companies, plus the city of Los Angeles Department of Water and Power.

The contract is to supply the electric power to pump the equivalent of an entire river 3,100 feet over the Tehachapi mountains, as part of the Pat Brown program to bring Northern California water some 500 miles down to parched Southern California.

Despite the fact that Gov. Brown will leave office Jan. 1, his director of water resources, William Warne, who also retires Jan. 1, is pushing hard to wrap up most of the details for the giant water project. Warne already has repayment contracts signed with users in over thirty water districts whereby they will buy the new water, thus relieving California taxpayers of paying for the project.

Director Warne has held one - half of one per cent of water in reserve for small users who may come in later. Aside from this, all the water is contracted for. This means that the huge bond issue of $1,750,000,000 voted by Californians in the November 1960 election to pay for the canal, tunnels, pumps, etc. will all be paid off on schedule.

Significantly, when Gov. Brown proposed taking Northern California water south over a canal 444 miles long and up over a 3,000 - foot chain of mountains, his biggest opponents were in Northern California. His chief supporters were the people who needed the water most, in Southern California.

But in last week's election it was Southern Californians who defeated the man who had the vision to take care of their water needs.

Meanwhile, the project is progressing rapidly. A total of 228 miles of the 444 - mile Canal has been either completed or is under construction. The tunnels are all under contract. The water will reach the rich agriculture area of Kern County in 1968, where Bakersfield, its county seat, voted against Brown.

In 1971 Los Angeles County, which also voted overwhelmingly against Brown, will get the water so necessary to its expansion. In 1972, Riverside, south of Los Angeles and on the edge of a desert, will also get water.

The California water project compares with the Aswan Dam on the Nile River, dedicated in 1964 by Nikita Khrushchev. But in contrast with Aswan which has received world publicity, the California project is scarcely known outside the state.

DIRECTOR OF WATER

The man whom Gov. Brown picked to handle the waterway is Bill Warne, Assistant Secretary of the interior in the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. He also worked in water - parched Iran under Foreign Aid Administrator Harold Stassen, one - time Republican candidate for President.

"I have worked with a lot of guys," Warne told me, "Ickes, Oscar Chapman, Julius Krug when they were secretaries of the interior. And I worked with Harold Stassen overseas. All were good men. But I think Pat Brown is the best of the lot. I don't mean to downgrade the others. But Brown has vision and great natural administration ability."

The contract being signed today is with Pacific Gas and Electric, Southern California Edison and San Diego Gas and Electric. All three, plus the city of Los Angeles Department of Water and Power, will cooperate to put Northern California water over the Tehachapi. The contract is for the low price of three mills.

"We get this low price because we are using dump power," explained Warne. "We won't need to run the pumps to full capacity at first. Later we will. And to protect us against heavier charges from the utilities, we have left the window open in our contract to build an atomic energy plant to take care of the extra load.

"This couldn't have been done without a strong and understanding man in the governor's office," added Warne. "I hate to see the governor not here when we dedicate this poject.

BROWN'S FUTURE

Pat Brown is now trying to figure out what he should do as a private citizen.

"I have spent 23 years working for the people," Brown told a friend shortly after his defeat. "And it's going to be difficult to readjust myself. I get a small pension, but you can't save any money when you're working for the government, and I've got to find a job right away. I can't practice law very well. I've appointed 400 judges and I can't appear before them. And I can't appear before the commissions and state boards of California because I appointed many of the commissioners. Besides, I don't think it's right for a former governor to use his influence before state agencies.

"We have a little house in San Francisco, but our daughter's occupying that; so we'll probably come down and live in Los Angeles."

Brown has had proposals to write a newspaper column and a book. He hasn't made up his mind exactly what we will do except that he will live in Los Angeles. His neighbors on South Muirfield where he now lives seem to like him. On Halloween the neighbors' children came over and had such a wonderful time riding around with the Governor of California that they went home and told their fathers and mothers to vote for him.

Most of the parents disregarded their children's advice. But Mrs. Joe Shell, wife of the Republican leader of the California assembly, who ran against Nixon for Governor in the Republican primary in 1962, brought a home-baked lemon pie as her small token of appreciation.

White House Plans No Push For 1967 Legal Freeze on Wages, Prices or Profits.

Washington, D. C.: -- Really, there are only a few shopping days left 'til Christmas. But one of the things President Johnson and his White House inner circle positively are not packaging this season is a new wage - price law.

So it can definitely reflect the President's thinking to report that there will be no wage freeze in 1967. Nor will there be a price or profit freeze.

Contrary to what is being mongered at "in" bars and off-the-record discussions, Mr. Johnson has given no orders for any action on the wage-price "matter". He has not gone near the subject.

There is virtually no staff work on wage - price proposals. There might be some "embryonic" piecing together of statistics and consensus "later," perhaps in December, maybe in January, "maybe."

Barring some cataclysm in Viet Nam, the entire matter of laying ceilings on wages, fringes, benefits or prices by law will take months even to get to the formal talking stage.

The President would have to decide policy -- which he hasn't. The staff would have to develop volumes of research - - which it hasn't. The Council of Economic Advisers would have to go to some retreat and come up with supporting documentation, which it could easily do -- but hasn't. Then would have to come discussions with the cabinet members, which are not even foreseen.

So, in the words of one who truly would know because he would be in on the action earliest:

"A wage - price freeze is not in the cards in our present world."

Officially, the government's "marching orders on wage package increases in 1967 are still as strong as ever on 3.2 per cent yearly increase," said the man.

This means that the White House will continue to insist that anything higher than a $3.20-a-week increase on a hundred dollars worth of cash earnings and benefits is inflationary, undesirable and unpatriotic.

The layman should know that the 3.2 per cent raise was decided on by the President's Council of Economic Advisers because it believed that, over the long pull (a decade or so), that was the increase of speed of production per man. There are other such percentage figures for the year 1965 and for the five years preceding that. But the long - pull theory puts the increase which a worker should get in these United States at 3.2 per cent a year.

There are the sophists who say this is good economics -- but bad politics. And, they add, good politics makes bad economics. And inflation, too.

Regardless of what the White House thinks or does or seeks in quiet pre - crisis talks, 1967 will be the beginning of a new wage spiral. Whatever happens until Sept. 2, will be toy room stuff. On that date there expire the major agreements between Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers and the automobile industry.

The cash and what - can - not - be - carried package which Reuther and his high command will seek will top many times the 3.2 per cent.

In addition to many new benefits there is heavy pressure in the auto union for walloping big cash raises -- especially for the skilled tradesmen who number many scores of thousands. The pencil work and the verbiage will be fixed at a national conference next spring. But they'll make the wage guideline of 3.2 per cent increase look like an Oliver Twist portion.

And Reuther is prepared to strike -- and strike long -- for his demands. By late next summer the auto union will have a huge war chest.

"We believe that our Strike Fund, by Sept. 1, 1967," said auto union treasurer Emil Mazey, "the termination date of our collective bargaining agreements, will be about $60 million, which should be large enough to meet the 1967 collective bargaining needs of our union."

This hawk talk by Mr. Mazey (a dove internationally) is blunt. Certainly the White House is aware that any freeze it would attempt would be melted by next summer's hot crisis. So why complicate matters with new laws fixing the wage - price guidelines?

Each crisis will be met as it explodes.

Mrs. Moore Is Hostess to Class Meeting

The Kings Daughters Class of the First Baptist church met Monday at 2 p.m. with Mrs. Waid Moore.

President Mrs. Gerda Harrison was in charge of the meeting. Twelve members were present.

The teacher, Mrs. Edyth Spidell, led the opening prayer.

Mrs. Freeman gave the devotional, "Bible Mathematics," from Psalms 103: 1-5. Mrs. Thomas Mathis gave the secretary's report and Mrs. Moore, treasurer, gave her report.

All group captains made their reports. There were five 100 per cent members for October. All reports were accepted by the class. The class signed a get - well card to be send to Mrs. James W. Hackney, who is in a hospital.

Mrs. Freeman led the closing prayer and the meeting was adjourned for a social and fellowship hour.

Mrs. Moore served birthday cake and coffee honoring Mrs. Freeman's birthday in November.

Plans were completed for the class Christmas dinner and party at the Holiday Inn Dec. 12. There will be an exchange of gifts.

Folk Mass Planned in Memory of JFK

NEW YORK AP - A Roman Catholic folk Mass in Medford, Mass., and the passing out of roses to motorists in Maryland are among the programs planned in memory of President John F. Kennedy, who was assassinated three years ago next Tuesday.

Tufts University students are sponsoring the Mass next Monday. The Rev. George R. Fitzgerald, Catholic chaplain at Tufts, will celebrate the Mass. He said it would be in memory of Kennedy's life, rather than his death.

Music at the Mass will include songs from the show, "Camelot," which is considered one of the late president's favorites.

Forty-nine motorists will receive one rose each as they pass through the toll gates of the John F. Kennedy Memorial Highway next Tuesday. Kennedy was slain one week after he dedicated the toll road. The roses represent the age of Kennedy. He would have been 49 this year.

"It is only fitting that a simple, dignified ceremony such as this be held to commemorate the awful tragedy which took the life of our late beloved president," said John B. Funk, chairman of the Maryland State Roads Commission.

'Mary, Mary' Will Begin Next Friday

The Thanksgiving holidays will have a little something extra this year when Sikeston Little Theatre presents its first play of the season Friday, Nov. 25, and Saturday, Nov. 26. Gene Kerr's comedy, "Mary, Mary", may be seen at the junior high auditorium. The curtain rises at 8 p.m.

Under the direction of Miss Carole Ann Williams, the story of two young people tittering on the ends of divorce provides an entertaining evening. Bob and Mary, the McKellaways, are played by Rich Hunter and Karen Moore. Their lawyer friend is portrayed by Richard Fussell. The other woman, the tempting Tiffany, is played by Miss Judy Barteau. Jay Summers plays the part of the ever present mutual friend.

The story, in which the problems of young married love are handled lightly yet affectionately by the author, has something for everyone.

Luci Tells Of Married Life

By FRANCES L. LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Luci Johnson Nugent says the first days of her married life in Austin, Tex., were made "pure purgatory" by curiosity seekers.

Now, says the President's 19-year-old daughter, she and husband Patrick J. Nugent "are supremely happy." "It's the most wonderful life" and they're treated "like everyone else."

But she described the first four days in Austin, where they moved as newlyweds into a duplex home, as "pure purgatory — everybody drove by to try to see us, they rang the telephone and came to the door."

Talking to reporters as she joined her parents in a hospital celebration of their 32nd wedding anniversary Thursday, Luci said the sightseeing has finally subsided, and she and Nugent are settling down to normal married life.

Luci says her husband has gained 5 or 10 pounds since their marriage Aug. 6, "but I've lost."

On their first month's anniversary, Luci said, "he took me out to dinner and gave me a big bottle of perfume." But, as the result of the outing, she recalled, he got sick.

"Before I was married," Luci confided, "I was not very neat but now I am the most finicky person in the world. I know that if I throw things around, there is no one but me to pick them up."

She said, "Pat is the most meticulous person. He never throws things around and if I do, he just stares at me until I pick it up."

Luci said they have their own friends in Austin, "but we don't have them in very often for Pat goes to school and works, and I don't see him too much except at night."

He is studying business administration at the University of Texas and is now employed at the Johnson family-owned radio-television station, KTBC in Austin.

Luci said she is taking one course — in the history of furniture — at the university and "it is just wonderful. I learn so much."

She says it has not been difficult to adjust to being a homemaker. She said she could cook before she got married.

While Luci painted a generally blissful picture, she did have this comment: "We have a little puppy, Kim, that is the most wonderful thing. When things get tense, we pet and talk to Kim and it breaks the tension."

Vicar Thought Repairs Should Relace Treasures

By GODFREY ANDERSON

LONDON (AP) — Should a vicar sell the church treasures to raise funds for repairs to the building?

The Rev. Robert McIntyre, 58, vicar of St. Cuthbert's in the Somerset market town of Wells, thought he should. So, when renovation of the church windows required more money than his parishioners could raise, he decided to sell two 300-year-old silver flagons. An art expert had valued them at $11,200.

That raised a storm he never expected. The sale was opposed by the City Council and the governors of the local Blue School, which was founded by one Ezekiel Barkham, who presented the flagons to the church before his death in 1641.

The issue became so controversial that the Bishop of Bath and Wells, the Rt. Rev. Edward Henderson, stepped in to appoint a consistory court to give a ruling.

Rectors and vicars all over England took time off from watching the ravages of deathwatch beetles and the leaking roofs of their mouldering churches to see which way the decision would go. Most had some church plate stored away but little money in their restoration funds.

Just how much treasure the Church of England has is a matter for conjecture. One expert has set its value at $56 million.

Prebendary A. S. Hopkinson, rector of Bobbingworth in Essex, suggested last year that many of the church valuables should be handed to the state for valuation, then turned into cash for maintaining and restoring the most worthwhile churches.

"Apart from actual buildings and available sites, the church has a great deal of treasure hidden away in safes and museums," says Hopkinson, who is also a religious adviser to one of Britain's commercial television corporations. "No one can estimate the value of the plate and other valuables which are never in use."

The Rev. Mr. McIntyre seemed to bear him out. His flagons stand about two feet high and look like drinking mugs with hinged lids. They are never used.

"They lie in the bank vault from one end of the year to another," the vicar said.

When the Consistory Court met in Wells for what was expected to be a two-day hearing, 47 objectors turned up. But the court adjourned after only five minutes and gave no decision.

It was announced that the vicar had withdrawn his application to sell the flagons and the hearing was closed.

Dr. Walter Wigglesworth, chancellor of the diocese, said he hoped no more would be heard of the matter. Another way was found to raise the money. The Blue School agreed to make a contribution and other local organizations will help.

"I am very happy," said the vicar as the flagons went back to the bank.

Emperor Grapes Make Regal Dessert

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Emperor grapes, now coming to market, are beautiful to look at and wonderful to eat. So how about using them in a regal dessert?

FROSTY MERINGUE WITH EMPEROR GRAPES

4 egg whites
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
1 quart vanilla ice cream
½ cup creme sherry wine
1 cup halved and seeded Emperor grapes
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons creme sherry wine

Beat egg whites until foamy. Add salt and cream of tartar; beat until stiff. Beat in 2 tablespoons sugar at a time until 1 cup sugar has been added. Add vanilla. Cut a piece of brown paper 12x15 inches and trace onto paper an 8-inch circle. Place on cookie sheet. Spread layer of meringue over the circle ¼-inch thick. Build up sides to form wall about 2 inches high with meringue.

Bake in preheated slow oven (250 degrees) 1 hour. Turn off heat and leave meringues in oven 6 hours or overnight. In the meantime, soften ice cream and fold in ¼ cup sherry. Return to freezer tray and refreeze. Combine grapes, 2 tablespoons sugar and sherry and marinate in refrigerator 2 hours. Just before serving, remove meringue shells to serving dish. Fill with alternate layers of ice cream and grapes. Spoon sherry marinade over top as sauce. Cut into wedges and serve immediately. Yield: eight servings.

Vicar Thought Repairs Should Relace Treasures

By GODFREY ANDERSON

LONDON (AP) — Should a vicar sell the church treasures to raise funds for repairs to the building?

The Rev. Robert McIntyre, 58, vicar of St. Cuthbert's in the Somerset market town of Wells, thought he should. So, when renovation of the church windows required more money than his parishioners could raise, he decided to sell two 300-year-old silver flagons. An art expert had valued them at $11,200.

That raised a storm he never expected. The sale was opposed by the City Council and the governors of the local Blue School, which was founded by one Ezekiel Barkham, who presented the flagons to the church before his death in 1641.

The issue became so controversial that the Bishop of Bath and Wells, the Rt. Rev. Edward Henderson, stepped in to appoint a consistory court to give a ruling.

Rectors and vicars all over England took time off from watching the ravages of deathwatch beetles and the leaking roofs of their mouldering churches to see which way the decision would go. Most had some church plate stored away but little money in their restoration funds.

Just how much treasure the Church of England has is a matter for conjecture. One expert has set its value at $56 million.

Prebendary A. S. Hopkinson, rector of Bobbingworth in Essex, suggested last year that many of the church valuables should be handed to the state for valuation, then turned into cash for maintaining and restoring the most worthwhile churches.

"Apart from actual buildings and available sites, the church has a great deal of treasure hidden away in safes and museums," says Hopkinson, who is also a religious adviser to one of Britain's commercial television corporations. "No one can estimate the value of the plate and other valuables which are never in use."

The Rev. Mr. McIntyre seemed to bear him out. His flagons stand about two feet high and look like drinking mugs with hinged lids. They are never used.

"They lie in the bank vault from one end of the year to another," the vicar said.

When the Consistory Court met in Wells for what was expected to be a two-day hearing, 47 objectors turned up. But the court adjourned after only five minutes and gave no decision.

It was announced that the vicar had withdrawn his application to sell the flagons and the hearing was closed.

Dr. Walter Wigglesworth, chancellor of the diocese, said he hoped no more would be heard of the matter. Another way was found to raise the money. The Blue School agreed to make a contribution and other local organizations will help.

"I am very happy," said the vicar as the flagons went back to the bank.

Emperor Grapes Make Regal Dessert

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Emperor grapes, now coming to market, are beautiful to look at and wonderful to eat. So how about using them in a regal dessert?

FROSTY MERINGUE WITH EMPEROR GRAPES

4 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
1 quart vanilla ice cream
¼ cup creme sherry wine
1 cup halved and seeded Emperor grapes
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons creme sherry wine

Beat egg whites until foamy. Add salt and cream of tartar; beat until stiff. Beat in 2 tablespoons sugar at a time until 1 cup sugar has been added. Add vanilla. Cut a piece of brown paper 12x15 inches and trace onto paper an 8-inch circle. Place on cookie sheet. Spread layer of meringue over the circle ¼-inch thick. Build up sides to form wall about 2 inches high with meringue.

Bake in preheated slow oven (250 degrees) 1 hour. Turn off heat and leave meringues in oven 6 hours or overnight. In the meantime, soften ice cream and fold in ¼ cup sherry. Return to freezer tray and refreeze. Combine grapes, 2 tablespoons sugar and sherry and marinate in refrigerator 2 hours. Just before serving, remove meringue shells to serving dish. Fill with alternate layers of ice cream and grapes. Spoon sherry marinade over top as sauce. Cut into wedges and serve immediately. Yield: eight servings.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

Personals

Dines Bess, formerly of Sikeston, passed away Wednesday at Center. The funeral will be held on Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Baker's Funeral Home in Lutesville. Bess is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Morris Hart of Center, and a son. Charles Bess of Flat River.

This past Wednesday until Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Hulet Yates and their son David, entertained their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Cooper from Oak Ridge, Tenn., in their home. The Coopers then went on to St. Anne, where they spent some time with his parents before rejoining the Yates Sunday, at the home of their mother, Mrs. Maggie Yates of Kuttawa, Ky. There, they were entertained for dinner along with Mr. and Mrs. High Krone, and Mrs. Edna Daniels, all of Sikeston.

Please don't forget to call your holiday or for that matter any other news in to your poor desperate reporter Cherie. The magic number is GR 1-0380.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Nash and family were hosts this weekend to Dr. and Mrs. Peter Milinkov and son Lindsey of St. Louis.

From The National Federation Of State High School Athletic Association

Book For Officials, Coaches, Players, And Spectators

JUMP BALL

The toss is an important technique that must be practiced to the point of mastery if the official expects to get to the top.

Get it up straight and higher than either jumper can jump.

Any two opponents can jump when:

1. Ball lodges on basket support.
2. A and B violate free throw provisions.
3. First jump in each period.
4. After a double foul or a false double foul.
5. Ball becomes dead with neither team in control.

In a held ball situation and when the ball goes out-of-bounds and officials cannot decide, or if officials disagree, jump is between the two involved players.

Official notifies captains of both teams that play is about to start to begin game or after a time out or any delay.

CHARLESTON AT POPLAR BLUFF - The first two class L schools to open their season....give the Mules the edge as the Bluejays have been out of their football uniforms only one week....Bluff 53, Charleston 47.

WOODLAND AT COLLEGE HIGH - Let's see.... eenie... meanie...minie...mo... give the Cardinals six points and watch them go!! Woodland 64, College High 58.

GREENVILLE AT PUXICO - Big "Chief" Smith has built a fire under the Indians' tent, so watch them go tonight... Puxico 78, Greenville 60.

SENATH-HORNERSVILLE AT HOLCOMB - Give the host a 12 point advantage and see what the Lions do about it....Holcomb 64, Senath-Hornersville 52.

NEELYVILLE AT BROSELEY - Let's say Broseley and see what happens...Broseley 53, Neelyville 46.

DEERING AT CAMPBELL - The hosts dropped their opener and will find their visitors tonight may be as tough as Lilbourn was...but don't bet on it...Campbell 63, Deering 58.

FISK AT BERNIE - The Mules seem to be on the right foot now that they have taken their first win...so we'll stay with them tonight...Bernie 65, Fisk 59.

NAYLOR AT ALTON - The host will take this one by four points. Alton 65, Naylor 61.

CLARKTON AT COOTER - The Reindeer will tuck another win under their belts tonight... but should be cautious...about their opponents and not let the name fool you...Clarkton 74, Cooter 67.

OAK RIDGE AT NOTRE DAME - We know the Bulldogs will open their season with a win and will take it by a large margin. Notre Dame 78, Oak Ridge 54.

Unemployment Payments Drop

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) -Unemployment compensation payments in October totaled $1,399,138 down 23.7 per cent from September, the Employment Security Division reports.

The division director, Herman Julien, said initial claims were down from a year ago but up from September. They are considered an index of new unemployment.

1966-67 OFFICIAL BASKETBALL Rules Simplified And Illustrated

From The National Federation Of State High School Athletic Association Book For Officials, Coaches, Players, And Spectators

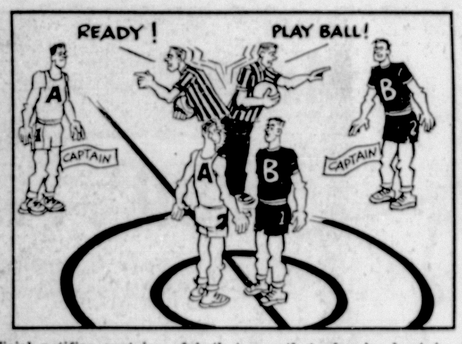

JUMP BALL

The toss is an important technique that must be practiced to the point of mastery if the official expects to get to the top.

Get it up straight and higher than either jumper can jump.

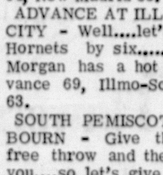

Any two opponents can jump when:

1. Ball lodges on basket support.
2. A and B violate free throw provisions.
3. First jump in each period.
4. After a double foul or a false double foul.
5. Ball becomes dead with neither team in control. In a held ball situation and when the ball goes out-of-bounds and officials cannot decide, or if officials disagree, jump is between the two involved players.

Official notifies captains of both teams that play is about to start to begin game or after a time out or any delay.

Big Red Greet 'Bye' With Open Arms

ST. LOUIS -- The arrival of the "bye" week in the National Football League schedule has been a welcome sight to most clubs -- none more so than the Football Cardinals, who now have two weeks to prepare for a four - game home stretch of the 1966 campaign.

After bowing to the Pittsburgh Steelers, 30-9, the Big Red must regroup before meeting the Steelers again at home on November 27, and then facing the Dallas Cowboys, Atlanta Falcons and Cleveland Browns to wind up the year.

The loss to Pittsburgh left the Big Red with a 7-2-1 record and a half - game lead over Dallas in the Eastern Division race. However, the Cardinals may find themselves in second place before they play again, since the Cowboys have a pair of games.

Dallas, with a 6-2-1 mark, meets the Steelers in Pittsburgh on Sunday, then takes on Cleveland on Thanksgiving Day in the Cotton Bowl. Cleveland, in third place with a 6-3- record, faces Washington this week.

Terry Nofsinger, making his NBL debut as a starting quarterback and playing his first complete game, hit on 15 and 46 passes for 187 yards. His attempts put him into the Big Red record book as the third - highest total in team history. Lamar McHan established the standard with 51 against Los Angeles on November 30, 1958 and Charley Johnson pitched 49 against the Eagles on December 13, 1964.

Larry Wilson's string of interceptions in consecutive games, which had reached seven, was ended, though the feeling was that he rated at least an assist on Abe Woodson's interception, which bounced off Wilson's hands. The Big Red's weak - side safety continued to be the NFL interception leader, however, with his total of nine. The seven - game string matches the league standard established two years ago by Washington's Paul Krause.

Jim Bakken's three field goals, giving him 18 for the season and a team-leading total of 77 points, also put him into the team career scoring lead among active players. He had 365 points, second only to Pat Harder's 389, and now has passed Sonny Randle and Bobby Joe Conrad among the active squad. Randle has scored 360 points and Conrad 353.

As the Cardinals head into the final portion of the season, John Roland continues to be the club's leading rusher with 475 yards in 136 carries for a 3.5 average.

Jackie Smith paces the receivers with 36 catches for 669 yards and three touchdowns, though Billy Gambrell has the most scoring catches--four, with only 11 receptions. Conrad has snared 21 passes and Randle 16, each for a pair of scores.

The Big Red's title chances, with four games left, have at least one favorable factor -- the Cardinals can win the Eastern Division crown with no help from anyone else. All that needs be done is win the final four games.

Expected back in action for the game of November 27 are Ken Gray, Pat Fischer and Roy Shivers. Gray tested his knee on the first play of the Pittsburgh game but then retired to the sidelines. Fischer, idle since the Cleveland game on September 25, has been working out and could be able to return. Shivers, who suffered a severe shoulder bruise against the Giants, did not play against the Steelers but should be sufficiently healed for the return match.

The Golden Eagle band from Southeast Missouri State College will perform at the Cleveland duel.

BATTLE FOR POLL POSITION

Oran And Bell City To Meet In Tourney Finals

BELL CITY --- Oran and Bell City will meet here Saturday night for the championship of the Bell City "B" team tournament, as they advanced to the finals last night.

Oran advanced to the finals last night by defeating Delta, 51-49, and Bell City reached the finals with a win over Woodland, 49-43.

Oran opened the tournament up with a 47-43 win Monday night over Scott Central. Delta beat Advance 67-43 to advance into the semi-finals.

Bell City beat Bloomfield in their opener, Wednesday, 47-22, while Woodland advanced into the semi-finals with a 65-59 win over Puxico.

Delta and Woodland will meet in the consolation game Saturday night at 7 p.m.

Delta took a first quarter lead of ten to seven and held the Eagles to a 20-20 tie at half to only find themselves down one point going into the final period and was never able to regain a lead.

Mobley led all scorers in the first game, netting 22 points for the Bobcats while the winners were placed by three men in double figures with E. Williams and R. Williams leading the way with 14 and 11 points respectively.

John Lee netted 25 points to led the Cubs to their 49-43 victory.

Clubbs took high scoring honors for the Cardinals, hitting the nets for 11 points.

Mizzou In Grid Final

COLUMBIA, MO., -- Missouri and Kansas reach another milestone in their historic rivalry here Saturday -- the 75th football hassle involving the two ancient border foes.

Prestige, as always, is the big booty in this one, especially in a year when Mizzou (5-3-1) and Kansas (2-6-1) are not contending for a 1-2 conference finish, or a probable bowl invitation. Victory for M.U. would mark the eighth straight season that the Tigers under Dan Devine have won six or more games -- and placed in the league's first-division. For Kansas, a Jayhawk triumph would brighten considerably a campaign, blighted by the loss of Bobby Skahan -- talented senior quarterback -- over most of the schedule.

More than 55,000 customers, a sell-out crowd will fill Memorial Stadium for the 1:30 kickoff. It'll be the biggest turnout ever to watch the nation's fifth-oldest gridiron scrap.

Traditionally troublesome in Columbia, K.U. will badger Missouri with the Big Eight's No. 2 rusher, Don Shanklin, and deploy to stop the Bengals' ground thrusts with a defense that is third-best in the conference. Linebackers Mike Sweatman and George Harvey ramrod a barricade that will dare Ol' Mizzou's coaches to throw the football.

The Tigers come up to this finale with three-fourths of their orginal backfield still competitive -- Gary Kombrink, Charlie Brown and Earl Denny -- with Bob Powell, rugged junior, filling in impressively of late for injured Barry Lischner.

Jayhawk backs are at half-strength. Skahan has been out since the Oklahoma State game, while fullback Dick Bacon was one of three casualties last week against Colorado. Also lost for this week were Sandy Buda, tight end, and J. C. Hixon, defensive halfback.

Scrappy Bill Fenton, 155-pound senior, and sophomore Bob Douglass have taken over Skahan's leadership role -- while Tom DiBiase, Omaha junior, moves into Bacon's job this week. Defensively, punter Dave Morgan - best in the league with a 43.6 yard average - will replace Hixon.

Rookies Jim Judd at tight end, and Con Rees at center, are pegged for starting roles in Mizzou's offensive unit because of carryover injuries to Marty Berg and Dick Kistner. Both of the ailing veterans are expected to play, however.

Brown, one of 16 Missouri seniors to bow out Saturday, will make a run at Bob Steuber's career rushing record in his collegiate finale. Charlie needs 113 yards to surpass the 2,004-yard total recorded by Bob Steuber from 1940-42.

The Jefferson City jitterbug had his best individual day last year against K.U., chugging for 158 yards in 15 carries, including an 86-yard touchdown sprint.

Oddly, Brown's famed forerunner at Senior high in Jefferson City -- Mel West -- missed in his bid to overhaul Steuber's mark six years ago, finishing with 1,943 yards. Brown's 30-game total is 1,892 yards.

If the typical M.U.-K.U. pattern of knock-down, drag-out football prevails Saturday, Tiger place-kicker Bill Bates could give the hom Club a discernible edge. The Storm Lake, Ia., senior booted a record-setting 52-yard field goal against Oklahoma last week, and chipped in some clutch punting, to insure the 10-7 victory.

Coach Dan Devine shows a 6-0-2 record over K.U.'s Jack Mitchell in their personal rivalry. The Jayhawks claimed a 23-7 win over Missouri in 1960 that was later reversed by a conference ruling for Kansas' use of an ineligible player. Both ties occurred in Columbia. In the overall rivalry, Missouri leads 35-30-9.

Lillian Leitzel, renowned aerialist of the '20s and '30s, was the first member of the Circus Hall of Fame at Sarasota, Fla.

Mizzou In Grid Final

COLUMBIA, MO., -- Missouri and Kansas reach another milestone in their historic rivalry here Saturday -- the 75th football hassle involving the two ancient border foes.

Prestige, as always, is the big booty in this one, especially in a year when Mizzou (5-3-1) and Kansas (2-6-1) are not contending for a 1-2 conference finish, or a probable bowl invitation. Victory for M.U. would mark the eighth straight season that the Tigers under Dan Devine have won six or more games -- and placed in the league's first-division. For Kansas, a Jayhawk triumph would brighten considerably a campaign, blighted by the loss of Bobby Skahan -- talented senior quarterback -- over most of the schedule.

More than 55,000 customers, a sell-out crowd will fill Memorial Stadium for the 1:30 kickoff. It'll be the biggest turnout ever to watch the nation's fifth-oldest gridiron scrap.

Traditionally troublesome in Columbia, K.U. will badger Missouri with the Big Eight's No. 2 rusher, Don Shanklin, and deploy to stop the Bengals' ground thrusts with a defense that is third-best in the conference. Linebackers Mike Sweatman and George Harvey ramrod a barricade that will dare Ol' Mizzou's coaches to throw the football.

The Tigers come up to this finale with three-fourths of their originial backfield still competitive -- Gary Kombrink, Charlie Brown and Earl Denny -- with Bob Powell, rugged junior, filling in impressively of late for injured Barry Lischner.

Jayhawk backs are at half-strength. Skahan has been out since the Oklahoma State game, while fullback Dick Bacon was one of three casualties last week against Colorado. Also lost for this week were Sandy Buda, tight end, and J. C. Hixon, defensive halfback.

Scrappy Bill Fenton, 155-pound senior, and sophomore Bob Douglass have taken over Skahan's leadership role -- while Tom DiBiase, Omaha junior, moves into Bacon's job this week. Defensively, punter Dave Morgan - best in the league with a 43.6 yard average - will replace Hixon.

Rookies Jim Judd at tight end, and Con Rees at center, are pegged for starting roles in Mizzou's offensive unit because of carryover injuries to Marty Berg and Dick Kistner. Both of the ailing veterans are expected to play, however.

Brown, one of 16 Missouri seniors to bow out Saturday, will make a run at Bob Steuber's career rushing record in his collegiate finale. Charlie needs 113 yards to surpass the 2,004-yard total recorded by Bob Steuber from 1940-42.

The Jefferson City jitterbug had his best individual day last year against K.U., chugging for 158 yards in 15 carries, including an 86-yard touchdown sprint.

Oddly, Brown's famed forerunner at Senior high in Jefferson City -- Mel West -- missed in his bid to overhaul Steuber's mark six years ago, finishing with 1,943 yards. Brown's 30-game total is 1,892 yards.

If the typical M.U.-K.U. pattern of knock-down, drag-out football prevails Saturday, Tiger place-kicker Bill Bates could give the hom Club a discernible edge. The Storm Lake, Ia., senior booted a record-setting 52-yard field goal against Oklahoma last week, and chipped in some clutch punting, to insure the 10-7 victory.

Coach Dan Devine shows a 6-0-2 record over K.U.'s Jack Mitchell in their personal rivalry. The Jayhawks claimed a 23-7 win over Missouri in 1960 that was later reversed by a conference ruling for Kansas' use of an ineligible player. Both ties occurred in Columbia. In the overall rivalry, Missouri leads 35-30-9.

Lillian Leitzel, renowned aerialist of the '20s and '30s, was the first member of the Circus Hall of Fame at Sarasota, Fla.

Women Taking Over Politics in Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The petticoat's place in Alabama politics seems assured with women holding six of the state's top elective offices.

During the Nov. 8 elections, most of the national attention was focused on Lurleen Wallace's smasning victory over two male opponents.

But, when the 40-year-old blonde succeeds her husband, Gov. George C. Wallace, to become Alabama's first, and the nation's third, woman governor, she will be joining five other members of her sex who have been chosen by Alabama's voters.

Moreover, a woman never has been defeated by a man in a contest for statewide office in Alabama.

This year, Sibyl Pool, who started the feminist movement at the state Capitol, drubbed a male foe for re-election to the Public Service Commission. The only other woman challenged by a man, Secretary of State Agnes Baggett, handily moved over to the treasurer's office.

Two other women were elected without male opposition. Melba Till Allen defeated Republican Alice Hudson for state auditor while Mabel Amos was unopposed for secretary of state.

In addition to the women elected this year, the presiding judge of the Alabama Court of Appeals is a woman, Annie Lola Price. Her six-year term did not expire this year.

Miss Pool opened state office doors to women when she was elected secretary of state in 1946 after serving in the Legislature. She has held state office ever since.

The Public Service Commission member also devised a system of rotating office among the ladies which has proved highly successful.

Mrs. Baggett, for example, has been state auditor, state treasurer, secretary of state and now will be treasurer again.

The rotation is made necessary by state law which allows only one consecutive four-year term in these offices.

CHRISTMAS SEAL replica held by "Music Man" Meredith Wilson is admired by Judy Carne, star of the television series "Love on a Rooftop." Wilson is National honorary chairman of the 1966 Christmas Seal Campaign which runs from Nov. 15 through Dec. 31. Ordeal Retains Bond Between Pair Unlikely to Meet Again

By HENRIETTA LEITH

NEW YORK (AP) — In a Manhattan publishing office, a pretty girl reads trade books and dreams of adventure.

On Alaska's northern coast, a middle-aged mechanic works on the DEW line — Distant Early Warning — and dreams of getting back to California for Christmas with his wife and six children.

It's unlikely that Helen Klaben, 24, and Ralph Flores will see each other again.

But there is a strong, lifetime bond between them.

For Helen Klaben, the adventurous Jewish girl from Brooklyn, and Ralph Flores, the Mexican - born Mormon convert from San Bruno, Calif., are the pair who 3½ years ago spent 40 terrible days together on a mountainside in the Yukon -- 40 of those days without food.

Helen was 21 and Flores was 42 when they met in Fairbanks, Alaska, early in 1963. Flores wanted a passenger on a flight home to California. Helen had gone to Alaska with another girl on a lark, and she wanted to get to San Francisco in hopes of joining a group going to Mexico.

She agreed to fly with Flores.

When their plane crashed into the trees near Aeroplane Lake, on the border of the Yukon Territory and British Columbia, experts wouldn't give them more than a few days to survive in the frozen waste, where temperatures dropped to 48 degrees below zero.

But their "tremendous will to live," plus the fantastic energy of the small Flores — who chopped down trees with a chisel and hammer and built fires for weeks when melted snow was their only sustenance — kept them alive until a plane spotted their distress signal and they were rescued.

Today, Helen is an assistant editor of the Macmillan Division of the Crowell - Collier publishing firm. Her foot, from which five toes had to be amputated because of frostbite, scarcely bothers her now. An operation last December made it possible for her to walk without pain, and wear the kind of shoes a 24-year-old girl would want to wear.

Since their rescue, she and Flores have corresponded occasionally. She got a Christmas card from him.

But the last time she saw him, on a visit to California in the spring of 1965, Helen decided she had better not keep up the friendship.

For Flores, who in the tradition of the Mormon Church is a lay minister, was just as determined to convert the Jewish girl to the Mormon Church as he was during their long ordeal, when he kept telling her their rescue depended on her acceptance of the divinity of Christ.

And Helen is just as determined as ever to stick to "my faith in my friend God."

So, while she still thinks of Flores as a wonderful person to whom she owes her life, Helen doesn't plan to correspond with him any more.

When she thinks of those frozen days in 1963, her recollections are "not at all" nightmarish. Nor has her love for adventure diminished.

"I love my job," she says, "and I'll stay with it — unless someone offers me a trip around the world."

First definite traces of the science of algebra were found in the writings of Ahmes, an Egyptian who lived about 1700 B.C.

Waives Hearing At New Madrid

NEW MADRID - In New Madrid county magistrate court Monday Juanita Ross faced charges of felonious assault. A preliminary hearing was waived and bond was fixed at $500, which the accused was unable to furnish and was committed to the county to wait for trial in circuit court.

S. L. Lester, charged with cheat and defraud, waived a preliminary hearing and was committed to the county jail when he refused to make bond.

Fines of $5-$20 were assessed on the following persons for speeding:

Floyd Gene Waddell, L. B. Livingston, Ephriam Collins, Thomas Phillip Reed, Danny J. Byrd, Patricia K. Powell, Frederick Douglas Kersh, Roy Chester Wilson, Muriel Robin Maddox, Thomas Eugene Pritchett, Adrienne Yvonne Taylor, Hubbard Lindsey Alexander, Judith A. Reichart, Michael Raymond Schmelgle, John Oliver Scott, Landon Sidney Cromwell, Michael Preston Welch, August Delano Byrd, Lawrence J. Sisk, Travis Bernard Smith, Allen Eugene Land and Fred R. Sickrey.

Claude F. Prail and Robert D. Stafford were each fined $15 and $10 costs on a charge of careless and reckless driving.

Chester P. Dockins, charged with careless and imprudent driving, paid a total of $25, including costs.

It cost James L. Kellett $15 for failure to transfer license.

Arlie Owens was fined $15 and $10 costs on an overweight charge.

Earl Zebdee Hooker paid $15 for improper registration of a motor vehicle, and Terry Lee Conner was fined $5 plus $10 costs on a charge of careless and imprudent driving, failure to exercise proper care.

Cook Books At Libarary

JACKSON - Helps for you at your library! In but a few days Thanksgiving will be here. For program ideas or readings, the Riverside Regional Library suggests "Thanksgiving: Feast and Festivals," compiled by Mildred Luckhardt. This is an anthology divided into two sections, historical and contemporary. Each section includes stories, poems and essays by many impressive writers.

For holiday cooking and feasting, the most recent addition to the library is "Modern French Culinary Art," by the noted French chef Henri-Paul Pellaprat. In its 1,100 pages are contained the practical and ultimate in French cooking, with some 80 colorful illustrations of table settings and food dishes tempting to the novice or the connoisseur.

Other cookbooks for you are: "The German Cookbook," which gives the recipes in two languages. Would many people know what a Gebratner Truthahn is?

"A Treasury of Great Recipes," by Mary and Vincent Price.

"Cooking Plain and Fancy for Family and Friends," by Lois and William Katzenbach, presenting 500 recipes and menus for lunches, dinners, breakfasts and parties.

"The Kate Smith's Company's Coming Cookbook."

"The Low-Fat Cookbook for Gourmets." This offers the best for those who must beware, for all recipes are checked by hospital dieticians for accuracy of low-fat cholesterol count.

The books are available through the Riverside Regional Library system.

Area Scouts To Attend Jambore

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Seven Boy Scouts and Explorers have been approved to attend the XII World Jamboree as representatives of the Southeast Missouri Council, Boy Scouts of America, A. J. Drinkwater Jr., chairman of the Council World Jamboree committee, announced today.

The World Jamboree will be at Farragut State Park, Iaho, Aug. 1-9, 1967 -- the first time that the Boy Scouts of America has served as host to this type of worldwide encampment.

The World Jamboree Scouts were interviewed locally, and their applications were reviewed by a special committee representing Region Eight of the Boy Scouts of America before being approved.

Those selected and approved are:

Host scout: Don Rice, Troop 4, Cape Girardeau.

Regular contingent: Brad Whatley, Post 54, Gideon; Joseph Kensey Russell, Troop 10, Cape Girardeau; James B. Holifield, Troop 72, Bloomfield; James A. Kinder, Troop 3, Cape Girardeau; Chuck Rapp, Troop 4, Cape Girardeau; James A. Summitt, Troop 182, cardwell.

Alternates: Bryan Williams, Troop 52, Chaffee; Carl Dennis Bess, Troop 72, Bloomfield.

While the scouts are at the World Jamboree, the 280 Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout troops, and Explorer posts in Southeast Missouri will hold friendship campfires as a part of a worldwide observance of the 60th anniversary of the founding of scouting. The first Boy Scout camp was held as an experiment of Brownsea Island, off the coast of England, from Aug. 1-9, 1907.

Drinkwater explained that in addition to meeting age and scout rank requirements, the World Jamboree Scouts are proficient in campcraft, have a general knowledge of world conditions and the history of the United States and are able to state clearly the fundamental principles on which the United States was founded.

The World and All...

You can recapture for him, to have and to hold all his life, the facts and flavor of the memorable year now passing. A handsome, hard backed volume, The World in 1966 is no ordinary dry-as-dust "annual" but a dramatically illustrated, story-telling book of living history as we Americans saw it unfold this year. You should order your copy, and copies for friends and relatives, now—for delivery in February. If you wish to make it a holiday gift, we will mail a gift certificate to anyone you name. This is a $7.50 value priced at only $3, postage paid.

#56 In A Series To Acquaint You With The Churches in This Area

THIS WEEK SALUTING

First Church of the Nazarene

John D. Phame, Pastor

John D. Rhame was born & reared in South Carolina. He was converted in Texas while earning his living as a guitarist. Upon entering the ministry he conducted 220 consecutive revival campaigns before accepting an assignment to pastor in Sebring Florida.

Mrs. Rhame was born and reared in New Jersey. She traveled with her husband for eight years while he was in the evangelistic field. Playing the piano and singing.

Their daughter, Mrs. Carolyn Kelley, teaches in Hawthorne school in Cape Girardeau, Mo.

Their son Paul is in school in Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany Oklahoma. This is their sixth year in Sikeston.

The article below taken from a Gladewater, Texas paper Sept. 1933.

Former Boxer, Theatre Performer Assists Evangelist in Meeting

Johnny Rhame, one time prize fighter and theatre performer was saved last January, while playing the local theatres of this city. The local pastor of the Nazarenes, Rev. E. T. Harris met him on the street and invited him to his church and soon afterwards he was wonderfully saved from his old life of sin. God so completely delivered him from the drink and tobacco habit and he is now giving all his time and talents in the work of the Lord.

Evangelist W. H. Minor who has spent 25 years of his life in the ministry traveling over the United States and a portion of Canada and has seen more than 15,000 people find God in his meetings says that this young fellow Johnny Rhame has the making of one of the best personal workers in the kingdom of God of anyone he has ever met. He is now fighting in the ring for King Jesus with the assurance in Heaven that he is going to win. He is an artist on his guitar. If you hear him play and sing one time you are sure to hear him again.

Those selected and approved are:

Host scout: Don Rice, Troop 4, Cape Girardeau.

Regular contingent: Brad Whatley, Post 54, Gideon; Joseph Kensey Russell, Troop 10, Cape Girardeau; James B. Holifield, Troop 72, Bloomfield; James A. Kinder, Troop 3, Cape Girardeau; Chuck Rapp, Troop 4, Cape Girardeau; James A. Summitt, Troop 182, cardwell.

Alternates: Bryan Williams, Troop 52, Chaffee; Carl Dennis Bess, Troop 72, Bloomfield.

While the scouts are at the World Jamboree, the 280 Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout troops, and Explorer posts in Southeast Missouri will hold friendship campfires as a part of a worldwide observance of the 60th anniversary of the founding of scouting. The first Boy Scout camp was held as an experiment of Brownsea Island, off the coast of England, from Aug. 1-9, 1907.

Drinkwater explained that in addition to meeting age and scout rank requirements, the World Jamboree Scouts are proficient in campcraft, have a general knowledge of world conditions and the history of the United States and are able to state clearly the fundamental principles on which the United States was founded.

The World and All...

You can recapture for him, to have and to hold all his life, the facts and flavor of the memorable year now passing. A handsome, hard backed volume, The World in 1966 is no ordinary dry-as-dust "annual" but a dramatically illustrated, story-telling book of living history as we Americans saw it unfold this year. You should order your copy, and copies for friends and relatives, now—for delivery in February. If you wish to make it a holiday gift, we will mail a gift certificate to anyone you name. This is a $7.50 value priced at only $3, postage paid.

#56 In A Series To Acquaint You With The Churches in This Area

THIS WEEK SALUTING

First Church of the Nazarene

John D. Phame, Pastor

John D. Rhame was born & reared in South Carolina. He was converted in Texas while earning his living as a guitarist. Upon entering the ministry he conducted 220 consecutive revival campaigns before accepting an assignment to pastor in Sebring Florida.

Mrs. Rhame was born and reared in New Jersey. She traveled with her husband for eight years while he was in the evangelistic field. Playing the piano and singing.

Their daughter, Mrs. Carolyn Kelley, teaches in Hawthorne school in Cape Girardeau, Mo.

Their son Paul is in school in Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany Oklahoma. This is their sixth year in Sikeston.

The article below taken from a Gladewater, Texas paper Sept. 1933.

Former Boxer, Theatre Performer Assists Evangelist in Meeting

Johnny Rhame, one time prize fighter and theatre performer was saved last January, while playing the local theatres of this city. The local pastor of the Nazarenes, Rev. E. T. Harris met him on the street and invited him to his church and soon afterwards he was wonderfully saved from his old life of sin. God so completely delivered him from the drink and tobacco habit and he is now giving all his time and talents in the work of the Lord.

Evangelist W. H. Minor who has spent 25 years of his life in the ministry traveling over the United States and a portion of Canada and has seen more than 15,000 people find God in his meetings says that this young fellow Johnny Rhame has the making of one of the best personal workers in the kingdom of God of anyone he has ever met. He is now fighting in the ring for King Jesus with the assurance in Heaven that he is going to win. He is an artist on his guitar. If you hear him play and sing one time you are sure to hear him again.

Volume 30, Number 10 | SIKESTON HIGH SCHOOL, SIKESTON, MISSOURI | Friday, November 18, 1966

'Growler Crowning' Assembly Tuesday

Sikeston Forensic League Participates In Congress

National Forensic League students of Sikeston high school participated in a congress at Illmo-Scott City yesterday afternoon.

Students left the high school at 2:20 for the trip.

Topics discussed were "Should Foreign Aid Be Limited to Non-Totalitarian Nations" and "Should the Federal Government Appropriate More Funds for the 'War on Poverty'."

Senate members were Jim Hux, Dave Shy, Fred Scherer, Joe Schuchart, and Sidney Stauffer.

Senior house members were King Sidwell, Shad Old, Diane Taylor, Greer Huff, Gene Spitzmiller, Bob Lambert.

Tonja Thompson, Martha Bucher, James Lashmet, Jim Doggett, and Jim Hailey.

Students attending for impromptu rounds were Tom Kappler, Randy Vaught, Snookie Horne, Mary Sappenfield, Marilyn Schuchart, Troy Young.

Linda Crenshaw, Jean Shankle, Sharon Jones, Jan Harper, Nancy Moore, Phyllis Patterson, and Sandra Mayfield.

Next debate meet will be a congress at St. Henry's in Charleston.

Thanksgiving Program Set By Council

Five SHS Students To Conduct Assembly Wednesday Afternoon

Senior Charles Stamp will preside over the Thanksgiving Assembly next Wednesday.

He will be assisted by sophomore Mike Struwe who will speak on "Origin of Harvest Feast" and junior Jim Bucher and senior Steve Spear who will together speak on "Everyday is Thanksgiving Day".

Concert choir, directed by Gordon Beaver, will render the selections "Heavenly Light," "They That Know Thy Name," "God That Made the World," and "Offer Unto God Thanksgiving".

Senior Tom Phillips will conclude the program with "Prayer For Thanksgiving" by Joseph Auslander.

Student council assembly committee, headed by senior Paula Waldman, planned the program. Student council members working with Paula were senior Tom Phillips, junior Mike Musick.

Because of the fact that the high school cafetorium will not accomodate the whole student body, one class will be allowed to attend the assembly while the remaining classes will listen over the intercoms.

KAY TRIGG and ROGER TOLLIVER represent homeroom 12-J in the Growler royalty contest.

PAULA WALDMAN and GARY WHITE represent homeroom 12-K in the Growler royalty contest.

Candidates For Royalty Await Students' Choice

A special assembly will be held by the Growler staff of Sikeston high school Tuesday morning to crown the royalty for the '67 yearbook.

Sales for the '67 annual will end Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and the votes for the candidates from the senior class will be counted by the co-editors of the book that night.

King, queen, and first and second alternates will be announced at the special assembly.

Those students buying Growlers were allowed to vote for the candidates of their choice from among the nominees of the senior homerooms.

Queen candidates are Camille Bowman, Dixie Campbell, Sally Faulkner, Teresa Hamelmann, Charlotte Jones, Elizabeth Martin, Connie Nowell, Peg Rafferty, Vicki Schindler, Kay Trigg, and Paula Waldman.

Candidates for Growler king are Roger Blackman, John Carr, Benny Eason, Kenny Hilterbrand, Mike Hixon, Steve Matthews, Jim Newberry, Bob Porter, Richard Sherrod, Roger Tolliver, and Gary White.

Votes have been mounting as students purchased their Growlers during the past eight-week campaign.

As the Growler royalty is crowned, the king and queen will receive a remembrance gift from the yearbook staff.

Later they will be photographed and occupy a prominent place in the forthcoming Growler.

Each week since the campaign has been in session, two of the candidates have been featured in the Bulldog Barker. Eight persons remain from the list of eligibles, and these occupy a prominent place in the paper today.

Representing homeroom 12-H are Peg Rafferty and Bob Porter. Peg is treasurer of the Red Peppers, a member of Honor Society, and secretary-treasurer of the 8:30 band.

She was a Miss Sikeston and Miss Midtowner candidate.

Bob played left tackle on the football team, and he hopes to participae in the wrestling program. He works after school at the H and J Motor Sales.

Richard Sherrod and Vicki Schindler represent homeroom 12-I. Richard is a member of the student council.

Vicki is a cheerleader, vice-president of Honor Society, and president of her homeroom.

Roger sings in the concert choir and modern chorale.

Candidates from homeroom 12-J are Kay Trigg and Roger Tolliver. Kay is a member of the Red Peppers, alternate for student council, and she was a candidate for Miss Sikeston and Miss Midtowner.

Gary White and Paula Waldman represent homeroom 12-K. Gary participates in track in the spring.

Paula is a Red Pepper, a member of Honor Society, Future Teachers of America, National Forensic League and student council.

Thanksgiving Plans Disclosed By SHS Students

Members of the Barker staff received various answers to the question, "What are your plans for Thanksgiving vacation?"

CHRIS DOVER--"Duck hunting with Mike Buchanan and Joe Schuchart."

BOB LAMBERT--"Eat and watch the parades."

BOB URBAN--"Eat, drink, and watch the girls that come home for Thanksgiving vacation and study."

GENE NUNNELEE--"I hope to spend most of my time with ----!"

BECKY SMITH--"Nothing but work at Shy's."

JANET TRUCKS--"As little as I can."

DANNY SPEARS--"Go see Vick."

CONNIE SULLIVAN--"Stay home and sleep and do homework."

PAT GARNER--"Sit home, sleep and eat."

MARY RUTH BURNETT--"No words for what I'm going to do."

MISS BARBARA MACKE--"Going home to Portageville."

JEANNIE DENTON--"Go to Six Flags in Texas."

Thanksgiving Is Reminder To Americans Of Heritage

EACH YEAR, between the last frosty days of autumn and the early snows of winter, we set aside a day to pause and remember all that we have to be thankful for.

This, in itself, is a privilege; for only in America are we blessed with the heritage and granted the freedom to make this day of Thanksgiving a part of our lives.

Since the Pilgrims began carving a nation from the wilderness, they found here, generations of Americans who have fought to defend our rights and freedoms.

Once again, these are being challenged. When, in a few years, we step into the adult world, the struggle will be ours.

Already some of our friends and former classmates have gone to defend us and our way of life, and more will be called. Remember them this year, and be thankful for their protection.

To prepare us for the role of responsible American citizens that we must soon assume. We have been offered an education of high quality. This is an opportunity for which no small thanks is due.

Students of Sikeston high school have various reasons to be thankful. Numerous opportunities in the fields of science, foreign languages, world literature, fine arts, mathematics and various other areas are available to the students.

Take an extra moment to remember your heritage as a part of America . . . the America of yesterday, today, and tomorrow . . . and to realize how important it is. Remember--and be thankful.

As Americans who are the promise of the future, bow your head and with humble reverence, thank God for your country and its freedoms, your state and its opportunities, and yourself as an individual who can enjoy and thrive on all His many blessings.

Follow Advice For Your Career; Find Satisfaction

STUDENTS SOMETIMES CHOOSE their career with the influence of ideas or happenings which are not sound basis for the making of decisions. These influences are often unrelated to the career itself.

Many times students tend to choose what seems to be the "in thing to do" for their occupation. This method is unreliable.

Now is the time for a student to make his decision for his career. He should make this decision and set goals for himself and then strive to meet these goals.

Even the choice of his present subjects in school should be determined by these goals.

Although the vocational choice might change with time, it is obvious that a person striving to meet certain standards has less time which is wasted.

When a person begins to make his final vocational decision, it is his own, but it would be wise to consult the librarian, his parents, and maybe the most important, people in the field of work which he is most interested.

The decision of one's life work is an important decision and requires much care. If it is done properly, it can prove to be the most fulfilling accomplishments of one's life.

When a person becomes satisfied in his vocation, other problems can be handled by him with more easc.

Freshmen, Eighth Graders Attend Classes At SHS

Approximately 60 freshmen and 40 eighth graders are transported daily from the middle school to the high school to attend classes. Students are brought over to the high school six times daily for either classes in French, industrial arts, or orchestra.

The leargest class at the high school for freshmen and eighth graders is the industrial art program which is directed by Jimmie Graham the first quarter and Wencil Moye the second quarter, both middle school teachers.

Classes in industrial arts are taught in the old refrigeration room of the high school by a different middle school teacher quarterly.

The first quarter Mr. Graham held classes with 17 freshmen the second hour, 19 eighth graders the third, 16 freshmen the fourth, 21 eighth graders the fifth, and 18 freshmen the sixth period.

The second quarter Mr. Moye will have 21 eighth graders the second period, 15 freshmen the third, 17 freshmen the fifth, 14 freshmen the sixth, and 19 freshmen the seventhperiod.

In foreign language 17 students are studying French under the instruction of Mrs. Lawrence Aeschlemann.

In the high school orchestra there are six students from the middle school who participate in the orchestra activities. The orchestra is conducted by Richard Powell.

Students have been transported by bus to the high school for the past six years; first year they had classes in foreign language. Later, classes were offered in industrial arts and science.

Today classes are held every hour with freshmen or eighth grade students from the middle school attending.

The students, by being transported by bus from the middle school, can acquire knowledge in subjects which are only offered in the high school.

'Make Our Lives Such'

The seasonal period we have named "Thanksgiving" is almost here. Thanksgiving should be a time we devote to God and thank Him for our many blessings.

This year let all of us strive to do our part to make the true meaning of this word clearly understood, and as we hear the reverberations of our efforts through the coming years let us feel proud.

To attain such a feeling we must be as the ancestral Pilgrims. Have a strong belief in God, possess much courage, and have the right kind of attitude toward humanity and life in general.

We are all very far from being perfect, but the entire universe falls into this category. Even as the Pilgrims journeyed across the Atlantic, they undoubtedly uncovered many of their own personal shortcomings.

Because of self-sacrifice and firm belief, they completed a successful voyage.

Thus, when Thanksgiving arrives may we greet it with a new philosophy of life, and may it be patterned from the Pilgrims' examples of faith when they prayed, "Make our Lives such . . . ."

$1400 Glass, Aluminum Doors, Less Maintenance

New glass doors leading from the east of the "A" building to the various other areas of the campus of Sikeston high school were recently installed.

These doors are of tempered glass and polished aluminum construction, updating the appearance of the building from both the inside and the outside.

Glass was cut and tempered prior to the installment for after the tempering the sheets would be too tough to cut.

It requires a phenomenal amount of force to break the glass, and it crumbles in place of breaking, much as safety glass does in automobiles.

Students and faculty remarked that the modern design and materials gave a new "personality" to the entire building.

Tough tempered glass is strong, and as a result the doors are stronger than the old metal doors; they should require less maintenance, and they do admit more light.

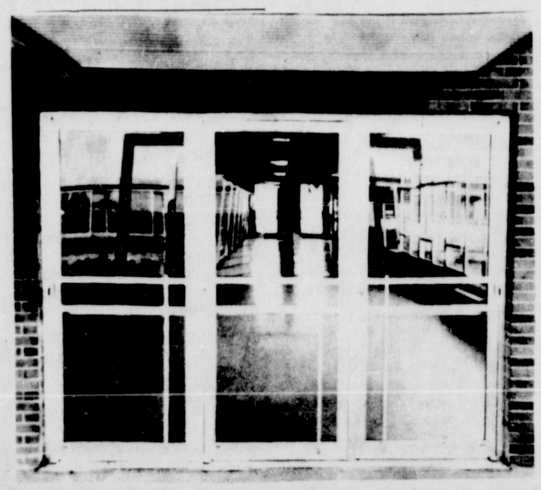

At a cost of approximately $1400, three doors were installed which admit more light, are stronger than metal, easier to open, and close more quietly.

It is expected that these doors will be passed through at least four times daily by each student and teacher in the high school, and even more times on the average.

In other construction on the campus, classes have been suspended temporarily in parts of "E" building as windows are removed for the new addition purposes. Biology courses have moved to another building.

Contractors said that they believed the operation was "fairly well on schedule." Walls are nearly finished, concrete floor has been poured, and some heating pipes have been installed.

Trucks and tractors have been employed at the site for several weeks for landscaping dirt removed for the foundation.

New Play Date Of Drama Club Is In December

Sikeston high school drama club, directed by Miss Carole Williams, has rescheduled the presentation "Night of January 16" to December 2-3.

Leading roles will be played by Doris Ray, leading feminine role, and David Stallings, leading male role.

Other persons receiving parts are Bobbye Scott, Suzanne Lemonds, Bob Urban, Marvin Gilmore, Mike Hixon, Danny Cannon, and John Hough.

Sandra Willis, Skip Alsup, Dianne Chism Charles Atchison, Paul Lathum, Greer Huff, and Sheila Topp.

David Boyer, Jeannette Meredith, Janet Bell, Robert Hazel, and Stanley Shuffit.

Admission to the play will be $1 for adults, and students with activity tickets will be admitted free of charge.

'Dishonesty' Is Aeschlimann's Good Fortune

Mr. and Mrs. Aeschlimann, faculty members of Sikeston high school, bot have very interesting backgrounds.

Mrs. Aeschlimann was born and reared in Cape Girardeau, where she attended grade school, high school, and college. She was a French and English major and graduated with a Master's degree in French, and has been doing further graduate work.

She attended college for one year in Quebec, Canada.

Mr. Aeschlimann was born in Nevada, graduated from the University of Arkansas at Fayettville with his Master's degree in English.

A former grocery clerk, member of the Marine Corps, and post office employee, he traveled across the sea to Japan while in the Marines. It was at the post office in Nevada, where he was employed for two and one-half years, that he met hs future wife, Neysa.

According to Mr. Aeschlimann, when asked if his wife's account of their meeting was accurate, "Actually, she tried to short-change me at the post office." They became better acquainted, according to Mrs. Aeschlimann, ". . . over a slot machine in Reno."

As is evident from the article, both teachers possess a delightful and refreshing sense of humor, a quality which has made them well-appreciated by their numerous students.

The Aeschlimanns lived and taught in Mountain Grove, Mo., for three years before moving to Sikeston with their son, Larry, who is now eight. Both have taught at Sikeston for several years.

Manley Pitches School Varsity, State Competition

Senior Rudy Manley is this week's featured student. He gained recognition as a result of his outstanding performance in past years as a pitcher in both high school varsity and Connie Mack League teams.

Lettering two years in high school baseball, Rudy compiled a 2-1 record pitching last year. In Connie Mack baseball, Rudy ended a highly successful Bulldog season with a 7-1 record, and an excellent batting average.

Baseball team went to Fort Worth, Texas, after winning sub-district, district, sectional, and regional championships before losing state honors.

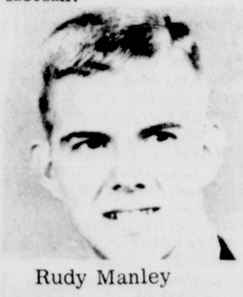

At Fort Worth, Rudy was starting pitcher the first game, which the Bulldogs lost as a result of two un-earned runs.

Rudy attempted basketball in his sophomore year, but he was not quite so outstanding in this field of endeavor.

He is now active participant in church-league basketball, playing for the First Church of the Nazarene in Sikeston.

Also interested in music, Rudy sings second tenor in concert choir and moden chorale.

Hopefully a future student at Murray State, he has not at this point decided his major. Rudy has not definitely decided upon a career, but he could like to have a future of professional baseball.

Students Induct FBLA Chapter At Bloomfield

Sikeston chapter members of Future Business Leaders of America took part in a candle-lighting ceremony last Thursday evening at Bloomfield high school.

Mike Andrews, Sikeston president, opened the program which followed with individual speeches by each Sikeston officer. Mrs. Rovena Hillsman, sponsor of FBLA, recited the purposes of the organization.

Each Bloomfield officer lit his candle from the corresponding Sikeston officer. They took their oath and were duly inducted to their positions.

At the close of the program, Sikeston and Bloomfield members rose and recited the oath of membership.

Mrs. G. W. Weathers Speaks To Homeroom

"A deaf person must learn with a limited language," said Mrs. Wendell Weathers in talking to Mrs. Rovena Hillsman's homeroom Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Weathers went on to comment that the language or vocabulary of a deaf person may be no more than 100 words.

Invited by David Childers, Mrs. Weathers spoke to the group about what the work members of the first Baptist Church are doing with the deaf in Sikeston and surrounding areas.

Mrs. Weathers' husband, Dr. G. W. Weathers, a noted dentist in Sikeston, translates the sermon at the First Baptist Church every Sunday morning into sign language for the benefit of all the deaf people.

In the homeroom session, Mrs. Weathers demonstrated the sign language and the alphabet of the deaf to the students.

Rolla Hosts College Day

Careers in engineering and science will be highlighted for high school students attending Engineers Day at the University of Missouri at Rolla tomorrow.

Students, guidance counselors, teachers, and parents will be given the opportunity to visit the school's 16 departments and confer with faculty and administrative staff.

Registration will open at 8 a.m. in the Student Union with guided tours of the campus from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Exhibits explaining engineering and science will be on display in all departments, and teaching and administrative personnel will be on hand for consultation on questions of interest to the college bound student.

The University of Missouri at Rolla specializes in engineering and science education with bachelor degree programs in 16 areas of science and engineering.

Masterson Talks To Honor Group

Chester Masterson, counselor in Sikeston high school, was the guest speaker for the National Honor Society meeting Monday afternoon.

He presented a program describing his mule-boat trip across the Atlantic Ocean when he was 21 years of age.

Relating how he learned to feed and manage his 40 mules, eat the "wormy" oatmeal breakfasts, and have the "miserable" sea sickness encountered on the trip was of great interest to the members.

Mr. Masterson also told the students about the poverty-stricken Europe following World War I.

Thanksgiving Program Set By Council

Five SHS Students To Conduct Assembly Wednesday Afternoon

Senior Charles Stamp will preside over the Thanksgiving Assembly next Wednesday.

He will be assisted by sophomore Mike Struwe who will speak on "Origin of Harvest Feast" and junior Jim Bucher and senior Steve Spear who will together speak on "Everyday is Thanksgiving Day".

Concert choir, directed by Gordon Beaver, will render the selections "Heavenly Light," "They That Know Thy Name," "God That Made the World," and "Offer Unto God Thanksgiving".

Senior Tom Phillips will conclude the program with "Prayer For Thanksgiving" by Joseph Auslander.

Student council assembly committee, headed by senior Paula Waldman, planned the program. Student council members working with Paula were senior Tom Phillips, junior Mike Musick.

Because of the fact that the high school cafetorium will not accomodate the whole student body, one class will be allowed to attend the assembly while the remaining classes will listen over the intercoms.

Candidates For Royalty Await Students' Choice

A special assembly will be held by the Growler staff of Sikeston high school Tuesday morning to crown the royalty for the '67 yearbook.

Sales for the '67 annual will end Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and the votes for the candidates from the senior class will be counted by the co-editors of the book that night.

King, queen, and first and second alternates will be announced at the special assembly.

Those students buying Growlers were allowed to vote for the candidates of their choice from among the nominees of the senior homerooms.

Queen candidates are Camille Bowman, Dixie Campbell, Sally Faulkner, Teresa Hamelmann, Charlotte Jones, Elizabeth Martin, Connie Nowell, Peg Rafferty, Vicki Schindler, Kay Trigg, and Paula Waldman.

Candidates for Growler king are Roger Blackman, John Carr, Benny Eason, Kenny Hilterbrand, Mike Hixon, Steve Matthews, Jim Newberry, Bob Porter, Richard Sherrod, Roger Tolliver, and Gary White.

Votes have been mounting as students purchased their Growlers during the past eight-week campaign.

As the Growler royalty is crowned, the king and queen will receive a remembrance gift from the yearbook staff.

Later they will be photographed and occupy a prominent place in the forthcoming Growler.

Each week since the campaign has been in session, two of the candidates have been featured in the Bulldog Barker. Eight persons remain from the list of eligibles, and these occupy a prominent place in the paper today.

Representing homeroom 12-H are Peg Rafferty and Bob Porter. Peg is treasurer of the Red Peppers, a member of Honor Society, and secretary-treasurer of the 8:30 band.

She was a Miss Sikeston and Miss Midtowner candidate.

Bob played left tackle on the football team, and he hopes to participae in the wrestling program. He works after school at the H and J Motor Sales.

Richard Sherrod and Vicki Schindler represent homeroom 12-I. Richard is a member of the student council.

Vicki is a cheerleader, vice-president of Honor Society, and president of her homeroom.

Roger sings in the concert choir and modern chorale.

Candidates from homeroom 12-J are Kay Trigg and Roger Tolliver. Kay is a member of the Red Peppers, alternate for student council, and she was a candidate for Miss Sikeston and Miss Midtowner.

Gary White and Paula Waldman represent homeroom 12-K. Gary participates in track in the spring.

Paula is a Red Pepper, a member of Honor Society, Future Teachers of America, National Forensic League and student council.

Thanksgiving Plans Disclosed By SHS Students

Members of the Barker staff received various answers to the question, "What are your plans for Thanksgiving vacation?"

CHRIS DOVER--"Duck hunting with Mike Buchanan and Joe Schuchart."

BOB LAMBERT--"Eat and watch the parades."

BOB URBAN--"Eat, drink, and watch the girls that come home for Thanksgiving vacation and study."

GENE NUNNELEE--"I hope to spend most of my time with ——!"

BECKY SMITH--"Nothing but work at Shy's."

JANET TRUCKS--"As little as I can."

DANNY SPEARS--"Go see Vick."

CONNIE SULLIVAN--"Stay home and sleep and do homework."

PAT GARNER--"Sit home, sleep and eat."

MARY RUTH BURNETT--"No words for what I'm going to do."

MISS BARBARA MACKE--"Going home to Portageville."

JEANNIE DENTON--"Go to Six Flags in Texas."

PHYLLIS TRUCKS--"I'll never tell."

LIZ McCOLLUM--"Eat a lot, sleep a lot, and goof-off a lot."

DORIS RAY--"Try to limit studying to small amounts; have company, go out and have loads of fun."

RICK FAKES--"Go to a wedding."

EDDIE HODGES--"Remember the true meaning of Thanksgiving Day; then stuff myself!"

Rolla Hosts College Day

Careers in engineering and science will be highlighted for high school students attending Engineers Day at the University of Missouri at Rolla tomorrow.

Missourian Receives Mental Health Award

NEW ORLEANS (AP) -- The Indiana Mental Health Memorial Foundation Thursday honored John Edward Counts, Route 1, Farmington, Mo. Counts received the Katherine Hamilton award, the highest national award for voluntary service to the mentally ill.

The presentation was made at a luncheon during the annual conference of the National Association for Mental Health. Mrs. J. Skelly Wright, Washington, regional vice president of the national association, made the presentation.

Counts, a student at the University of Missouri, gave up his holidays and vacations to do volunteer work with patients in the southeast Missouri city of Farmington.

Chile, of all countries of the world, lies closest to the Antarctic Circle.

LOAN REPORT
BY
NOWELL REAL ESTATE

TIGHT MONEY:

Anyone thinking of buying or selling Real Estate in the last six months have heard these two words "tight money". Many have been discouraged to the point of not trying to buy or sell. Another phrase you have heard many times is "loan discounts". Most people have no idea of the meaning of discounts. Here is a brief explanation; John & Joe both want to buy a $10,000.00 house, both meet all the qualifications. John has a $2500.00 down payment (25% of sales price) - he can get a 7% conventional loan with no sellers discount. Joe has a $300.00 down payment - so FHA is the way he must go (only 3% down). The Federal Government guarantees to the lender that if Joe doesn't pay, they will. The lender only gets 6% interest for this loan. This is the reason for the loan discount-it's to make up the difference between the lower interest rate of Joe & the higher of John. The Government says the buyer can't pay the discount but the seller must.

HIGH INTEREST RATES:

7% or 7 1/2% only seems to be a high rate of interest because we have been accustomed to paying less. After all, money is only a medium of exchange. When you stop and think about it, what other commodity has this low rate of mark up from producer to consumer? Very few! WILL INTEREST RATES REDUCE? All indications are that it will not.

WHAT CAN BE DONE?

Many people say "what can we do"? We have outgrown our house or we need costly repairs. This is one of the reasons NOWELL REAL ESTATE has such an active trade program. In many instances you can (1) trade your equity and, (2) avoid lown discounts, (3) avoid closing costs, and (4) assume loans with low interest rates.

For many years we have built and sold quality homes. We have built a reputation for honesty and integrity. We would like to have the opportunity of serving you, we have several attractive homes to choose from.

We'd like to

We would like to pick up the tab for you whenever you have an auto accident. It would be quite a service to you if we could do this.

But sometimes

We can't.
You have to buy MFA Auto Insurance before, rather than after an accident if we are to be of any service to you.

We hope your accident isn't just around the corner; but if it is, are you insured? Talk to your MFA Insurance Agent today -- before you have to depend on an auto insurance policy to save you from financial disaster.

LOAN REPORT
BY
NOWELL REAL ESTATE

TIGHT MONEY:

Anyone thinking of buying or selling Real Estate in the last six months have heard these two words "tight money". Many have been discouraged to the point of not trying to buy or sell. Another phrase you have heard many times is "loan discounts". Most people have no idea of the meaning of discounts. Here is a brief explanation; John & Joe both want to buy a $10,000.00 house, both meet all the qualifications. John has a $2500.00 down payment (25% of sales price) - he can get a 7% conventional loan with no sellers discount. Joe has a $300.00 down payment - so FHA is the way he must go (only 3% down). The Federal Government guarantees to the lender that if Joe doesn't pay, they will. The lender only gets 6% interest for this loan. This is the reason for the loan discount-it's to make up the difference between the lower interest rate of Joe & the higher of John. The Government says the buyer can't pay the discount but the seller must.

HIGH INTEREST RATES:

7% or 7 1/2% only seems to be a high rate of interest because we have been accustomed to paying less. After all, money is only a medium of exchange. When you stop and think about it, what other commodity has this low rate of mark up from producer to consumer? Very few! WILL INTEREST RATES REDUCE? All indications are that it will not.

WHAT CAN BE DONE?

Many people say "what can we do"? We have outgrown our house or we need costly repairs. This is one of the reasons NOWELL REAL ESTATE has such an active trade program. In many instances you can (1) trade your equity and, (2) avoid down discounts, (3) avoid closing costs, and (4) assume loans with low interest rates.

For many years we have built and sold quality homes. We have built a reputation for honesty and integrity. We would like to have the opportunity of serving you, we have several attractive homes to choose from.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: In your opinion is it proper for a husband to accept gifts from his ex-wife on Christmas, Father's Day, his birthday and so on? My husband's ex - wife signs all her cards, "With Love."

She usually brings the gifts herself. Last week she sent his birthday gift with their son.

I say it's bad taste for divorced people to exchange gifts and what's more I'm fed up with her "friendliness." My husband sees nothing wrong with it. What do you say, Ann Landers? We both read your column every day and will be looking for your reply. -- KENTUCKY BELLE

Dear Belle: Show me a divorced couple who insist that they feel warmly about each other and I will show you at least one liar. There must be an exception somewhere out there in this great big world, but I have never met him or her.

In my opinion, gift - giving between divorced people is hypocritical and phony and the motives highly questionable.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 15-year - old girl who has to do all the ironing for eight people in the family. I have told my mother that I think this is unfair but she says it is my job and not to argue.

Why is it MY job? She's the mother around here and I say it is HER job. My mom does not work outside the house so I don't know what she does all day that keeps her so busy she can't do the ironing. The youngest child in our family is eight years old. There are no babies around here. Do you think this is fair? -- CHEAP LABOR

Dear Cheap: Not only do I think it is fair, I think it is wise. One thing is certain, Toots -- when you get married you will know how to iron, which is more than I can say for a lot of young girls these days.

If your mother has six children and a husband to clean up after and cook for, she is plenty busy. As the oldest child you have a responsibility to help her, so do it graciously and stop beefing.

Dear Ann: I just read your booklet, "Bugged By Parents." I am not a teen - ager. I am a grandmother and I am asking you to please write a booklet called "Bugged by Children".

I am 62 years old, self-sufficient, enjoy good health, drive a new car, love to travel and have earned the right to do as I please. My husband and I put four children through college, and it wasn't easy.

My daughters think I am selfish because I won't baby-sit or keep their children when they go on vacations. My sons think I am cheap because I refused to give them down - payments for new homes. (They finally went to the bank.)

Yesterday I was sharply criticized because I refuse to send my oldest grandson to an expensive military school. My daughter - in - law said laughingly, "Are you planning to take it with you?"

What would you have answered to that, Ann Landers?-- MEAN GRAM

Dear Gram: Perhaps you can't take it with you but why should you be without it as long as you're here?

Parents and grandparents should not be cajoled, maneuvered, shamed or pressured into forking over extras or doing favors which they consider an imposition. I applaud your independence and if more people had it my mail would be a lot lighter.

Does someone you love drink too much? What can you do about it? For some forthright answers, get the booklet "Alcoholism -- Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Mild Boy Grows Into Medal of Honor Winer

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — As a boy, Walter J. Marm Jr. resisted his father's efforts to teach him boxing. He wasn't interested in fighting.

Wednesday, President Johnson approved the American fighting man's highest award — the Medal of Honor — for Marm's heroism in Viet Nam.

"I'm very proud, to say the least," said his father, Walter J. Marm, a retired state police officer.

"To tell you the truth," he added, "I didn't know what kind of a soldier Joey would be.

"He'd never been in a fight in his life. I never heard him say 'Hell' in all his life. I never knew him to be mad at anybody.

"I wanted to teach him how to box," said the elder Marm, a former amateur boxer. "But he just wasn't interested.

"But he must have plenty of fight from the reports we got back," he said.

The reports said Marm, 25, and his platoon from the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division were pinned down by a machine gun in a bunker on Nov. 14, 1965, during the battle of Chu Pont Mountain. Bullets raked the American positions, killing some of Marm's men.

Marm, a second lieutenant, set out alone for the nest. Although wounded he knocked it out, killing 18 of the enemy.

Marm, who has three sisters, went to Officer's Candidate School after graduating from the School of Pharmacy at Duquesne University in Pittsburgh in 1964.

He now is stationed in the Ranger department of the infantry school at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Can Tuberculosis Be Prevented? Chest Specialist Answers Questions About TB

By Gordon M. Meade, M.D.
Director of Medical Education
National Tuberculosis Association

Q: Has medical science found a way to prevent tuberculosis?

A: At the present time we are most optimistic about chemoprophylaxis.

Q: What is chemoprophylaxis?

A: It is the prevention of disease by the use of drugs.

Q: How does chemoprophylaxis work in the prevention of TB?

A: A tuberculin test will show if an individual has been infected by tubercle bacilli (the germs of tuberculosis). If, then, an X-ray and possibly other tests show that the infection has not yet produced disease in the lungs or elsewhere, the anti-tuberculosis drug isoniazid (INH for short) can be given to prevent disease from developing.

Numerous tests of this comparatively new method of tuberculosis control have shown that INH has marked value in preventing a person from becoming sick even though he has been infected by the germ.

Q: What is the difference between being infected with the tuberculosis germ and being sick with TB?

A: Although no one develops the disease of tuberculosis unless the germs enter his body and settle themselves there, the disease does not appear in everyone whom the germs infect. In some people the germs find fertile soil, multiply, and produce disease; in many persons, probably the majority, the germs find unfertile soil, are made inactive by the body's defenses, and the person remains well.

Experience has shown that with chemoprophylaxis the risk of developing disease is markedly reduced, and even if TB does develop it will probably be less complicated and not as severe. In short, isoniazid helps the body to combat the germs.

Q: Should INH be given to everyone who is infected with the tubercle bacillus?

A: It is not feasible, unfortunately. INH must be taken in the form of many pills every day for at least a year. It is unrealistic to expect some 30 million people (the estimated number of those now infected in the United States) to stick to such a regimen. Besides, our major concern must be to reach those infected persons in greatest danger of developing disease.

Q: Who should take INH, then?

A: The drug is recommended for certain groups of people who have reacted positively to a tuberculin test. These groups are children under 3 years of age and persons who are known to have had a recent change in their tuberculin reactions from negative to positive. Some experts go further. They would use INH for positive reactors under 14 years of age, household contacts of patients with actively contagious tuberculosis, and persons with X-rays indicating the possibility of tuberculosis.

Q: Do you think our country will ever be free of TB?

A: Many problems must be solved first. The National Tuberculosis Association, the U.S. Public Health Service, and most tuberculosis experts feel, however, that chemoprophylaxis can move us a long way towards eradication of the disease. Your Christmas Seal contribution, incidentally, helps the National Tuberculosis Association and its state and local affiliates toward that destination.

Wiping out the disease that was once "Captain of the Kings of Death" is, at any rate, now a potentially attainable goal.

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: In your opinion is it proper for a husband to accept gifts from his ex-wife on Christmas, Father's Day, his birthday and so on? My husband's ex - wife signs all her cards, "With Love."

She usually brings the gifts herself. Last week she sent his birthday gift with their son.

I say it's bad taste for divorced people to exchange gifts and what's more I'm fed up with her "friendliness." My husband sees nothing wrong with it. What do you say, Ann Landers? We both read your column every day and will be looking for your reply. -- KENTUCKY BELLE

Dear Belle: Show me a divorced couple who insist that they feel warmly about each other and I will show you at least one liar. There must be an exception somewhere out there in this great big world, but I have never met him or her.

In my opinion, gift - giving between divorced people is hypocritical and phony and the motives highly questionable.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 15-year - old girl who has to do all the ironing for eight people in the family. I have told my mother that I think this is unfair but she says it is my job and not to argue.

Why is it MY job? She's the mother around here and I say it is HER job. My mom does not work outside the house so I don't know what she does all day that keeps her so busy she can't do the ironing. The youngest child in our family is eight years old. There are no babies around here. Do you think this is fair? -- CHEAP LABOR

Dear Cheap: Not only do I think it is fair, I think it is wise. One thing is certain, Toots -- when you get married you will know how to iron, which is more than I can say for a lot of young girls these days.

If your mother has six children and a husband to clean up after and cook for, she is plenty busy. As the oldest child you have a responsibility to help her, so do it graciously and stop beefing.

Dear Ann: I just read your booklet, "Bugged By Parents." I am not a teen - ager. I am a grandmother and I am asking you to please write a booklet called "Bugged by Children".

I am 62 years old, self-sufficient, enjoy good health, drive a new car, love to travel and have earned the right to do as I please. My husband and I put four children through college, and it wasn't easy.

My daughters think I am selfish because I won't baby-sit or keep their children when they go on vacations. My sons think I am cheap because I refused to give them down - payments for new homes. (They finally went to the bank.)

Yesterday I was sharply criticized because I refuse to send my oldest grandson to an expensive military school. My daughter - in - law said laughingly, "Are you planning to take it with you?"

What would you have answered to that, Ann Landers?-- MEAN GRAM

Dear Gram: Perhaps you can't take it with you but why should you be without it as long as you're here?

Parents and grandparents should not be cajoled, maneuvered, shamed or pressured into forking over extras or doing favors which they consider an imposition. I applaud your independence and if more people had it my mail would be a lot lighter.

Does someone you love drink too much? What can you do about it? For some forthright answers, get the booklet "Alcoholism -- Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self -addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Can Tuberculosis Be Prevented? Chest Specialist Answers Questions About TB

By Gordon M. Meade, M.D.
Director of Medical Education
National Tuberculosis Association

Q: Has medical science found a way to prevent tuberculosis?
A: At the present time we are most optimistic about chemoprophylaxis.
Q: What is chemoprophylaxis?
A: It is the prevention of disease by the use of drugs.
Q: How does chemoprophylaxis work in the prevention of TB?
A: A tuberculin test will show if an individual has been infected by tubercle bacilli (the germs of tuberculosis). If, then, an X-ray and possibly other tests show that the infection has not yet produced disease in the lungs or elsewhere, the anti-tuberculosis drug isoniazid (INH for short) can be given to prevent disease from developing.

Numerous tests of this comparatively new method of tuberculosis control have shown that INH has marked value in preventing a person from becoming sick even though he has been infected by the germ.

Q: What is the difference between being infected with the tuberculosis germ and being sick with TB?
A: Although no one develops the disease of tuberculosis unless the germs enter his body and settle themselves there, the disease does not appear in everyone whom the germs infect. In some people the germs find fertile soil, multiply, and produce disease; in many persons, probably the majority, the germs find unfertile soil, are made inactive by the body's defenses, and the person remains well.

Experience has shown that with chemoprophylaxis the risk of developing disease is markedly reduced, and even if TB does develop it will probably be less complicated and not as severe. In short, isoniazid helps the body to combat the germs.

Q: Should INH be given to everyone who is infected with the tubercle bacillus?
A: It is not feasible, unfortunately. INH must be taken in the form of many pills every day for at least a year. It is unrealistic to expect some 30 million people (the estimated number of those now infected in the United States) to stick to such a regimen. Besides, our major concern must be to reach those infected persons in greatest danger of developing disease.
Q: Who should take INH, then?
A: The drug is recommended for certain groups of people who have reacted positively to a tuberculin test. These groups are children under 3 years of age and persons who are known to have had a recent change in their tuberculin reactions from negative to positive. Some experts go further. They would use INH for positive reactors under 14 years of age, household contacts of patients with actively contagious tuberculosis, and persons with X-rays indicating the possibility of tuberculosis.
Q: Do you think our country will ever be free of TB?
A: Many problems must be solved first. The National Tuberculosis Association, the U.S. Public Health Service, and most tuberculosis experts feel, however, that chemoprophylaxis can move us a long way towards eradication of the disease. Your Christmas Seal contribution, incidentally, helps the National Tuberculosis Association and its state and local affiliates toward that destination.

Wiping out the disease that was once "Captain of the Kings of Death" is, at any rate, now a potentially attainable goal.

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Nov. 16, the 322nd day of 1966. There are 43 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1953, the U.S. Navy dedicated its 1.2-million-watt transmitter in the Cascade Mountains in the state of Washington. The transmitter can contact vessels all over the world without the aid of relay stations.

On this date:

In 1903, a treaty between the United States and Panama was ratified, giving the United States control of a 10-mile-wide strip of land for a canal.

In 1935, Italy was faced with economic sanctions because of its invasion of Ethiopia.

In 1939, Adolf Hitler conferred with the Italian and Spanish foreign ministers in Berchtesgarden.

In 1943, Secretary of State Cordell Hull addressed a joint session of Congress on the decisions made at the Moscow foreign ministers conference.

Ten years ago — Envoys of 12 NATO nations and Israel stalked out of a Moscow reception because of comments by Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev accusing Britain, France and Israel of, in his words, "having cut the throats of Egyptians while pretending to restore order."

Five years ago — The return to the Dominican Republic of two brothers of slain dictator Rafael Trujillo prompted a warning by the United States that it would not sit idly by and allow the Trujillo family to resume dictorial control of the Dominican Republic.

One year ago — U.S. air cavalrymen and North Vietnamese regulars renewed their five-day - old battle for control of the Ia Drang Valley in South Viet Nam.

Clara Dickerman Dies Thursday

MATTHEWS -- Mrs. Clara Dickerman, 90, a former resident here, died Thursday at noon in the Randolph nursing home, Sparta, Ill., where she had lived for the past three and a half years.

She was born on Sept. 3, 1876, daughter of Lawrence B. and Fanny Alderman, in Belvidere, Ill., and was married to John H. Dickerman, who preceded her in death in 1943.

Surviving are two sons, Earl J. Dickerman of Maplewood, and Harold J. Dickerman of Lenzburg, Ill.; one daughter, Mrs. Richard Ashmore of Okawville, Ill.; one sister, Mrs. Eldon Bowley of Dade City, Fla.; one brother, Ira Moore of Mount Morris, Ill.; nine grandchildren and 28 great-grandchildren.

Services will be in the Christian church Saturday at 2 p.m. Burial will be in the Memorial Park cemetery in Sikeston with Jackson Funeral Home of Sikeston in charge.

JOHNSON

ry party. The President said he has pains in his side, his throat, his right arm and his legs.

And Johnson said he is trying to keep busy because it keeps his mind off the aches and pains.

Johnson talked in a low, husky voice. When he saw reporters jotting down his remarks, he cautioned them, "I don't want anyone to report I made a major speech. I am prohibited from making major speeches."

Johnson's doctors want him to spare his voice as much as possible, and to make no speeches for four to five weeks.

The President said the polyp removed from his throat had been bothering him for years — as long ago as 1960, when he was campaigning for the vice presidency. But he said it had come and gone during those years. It was spotted by his doctors in August.

Johnson said the doctors told him there may be a different tonal quality to his voice when his throat heals.

The President has not said when he will leave his $45-a-day hospital suite. When he does, he plans to head for his LBJ Ranch in Texas.

Johnson saw a stream of visitors and White House aides during his work-and-nap second day of recuperation. For the first time since the operation, he saw Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

He heard a report on the economic situation and possible spending cuts from Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler and other top advisers. The White House said the advisers, not the President, did most of the talking.

Among the other hospital visitors: Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, and House Democratic Leader Carl B. Albert — who said it was the first time he had ever done most of the talking in a conversation with Johnson.

At day's end, the President talked a bit about his job:

"I have the best job in the world. I must have — so many of them want it."

Then he smiled. "What other guy would have a job where he could sleep for 3½ hours in the afternoon?" he asked.

A pessimist is delighted when he is disappointed.

she soon found occasion for a need of a worldwide girl's organization. It was shortly after meeting a general during the Boar war that she used her talents and her religious training in founding the Girl Scouts.

"It is hard for young girls to understand the plight of the world, when many times persons in high places do wrong, and a young girl must hold her honor. Let us think, have appreciation, imagination and sympathy in our dealings with each other. This is what Juliette Lowe had in mind.

"It was little Finland, while at a Colorado conclave that said, let us light this campfire so that all nations of the world may see light of peace and brotherhood for all men.

In a moment of laughter Miss Schrottky said, "I have often thought of the modern dancing you girls do today, the boy dances all over the room while you stand in one place. When I was a girl I liked to hold onto the boy I danced with."

A dramatization of aims and ideals of Girl Scouting was presented by four members of Dexter Girl Scouts.

The meeting ended with the retirement of colors, as the speaker was escorted from the platform by a corps of scouts.

Miss Schrottky was honored this morning before her departure to New York at a coffee at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Paul Fisher. Girl Scout leaders gathered with the neighborhood chairmen, Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Joe Dye, as hostesses.

inside of the building. Smoke billowed from beneath the built up roof above most of the buildings in the complex.

A second fire truck arrived a short while later in front of the building. Firemen sprayed water on the roofs of the buildings to extinguish smouldering materials.

Fire damage was contained to Shy's building and to a section of the roof covering the Ben Franklin store.

Smoke filled the Ben Franklin store, Sears, Mode-O-Day, and the Kentucky Fried Chicken store.

Smoke damage was negligible in most of the other stores.

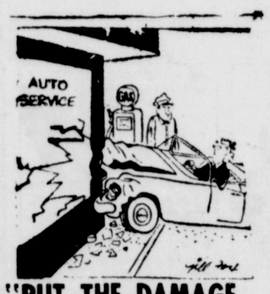

The Mode-O-Day store opened its doors today only to allow the smoke smell to clear. Mrs. Arabelle Cunningham, co-partner, said the store will not open for business until the insurance claim adjustors assess damage to soft goods.

Soot and smoke film were present in some of the other stores. Clean up operations were underway this morning.

All stores other than Shy's and Mode-O-Day were able to continue business today.

LONDON (AP) — A statuesque young Indian is taking the Miss World title to Asia for the first time but she says, "I don't really want it."

Reita Faria, 5-foot, 8-inch medical student from Bombay, also was doubtful today about what she will do with the 2,500 pounds ($7,000) prize money.

"I can't think of anything to buy with it," said Reita, 23. "I have always wanted a Mercedes, but I could not take that kind of car back to India.

"My country needs a lot of money and it would be unfair of me. I want to get back right away to finish my studies and become a doctor. I entered the contest for fun. I never expected to win."

Reita, a shapely 35-24-35 with brown eyes and flashing teeth, carried off the top prize Thursday night with a regal air that had the British audience stamping approval.

The decision was one of the most popular on record for a contest which often produces a lot of jealousy and accusations.

Reita conceded, however, that she was run close by her runner-up, an equally tall girl from Yugoslavia called Nikica Marinovic, 19.

Nikica, a captivating blonde 36-24-36, was the first competitor to enter the contest from a Communist country.

Third out of the 51 competitors was Miss Greece, Efi Plumbi, 21. Miss Brazil, Marluci Manvailer 18, was fourth, and Miss Italy, Gigliola Carbonara, 23, was fifth.

An Invitation to you - - - - - - - - - - -

TRINITY BAPTIST CHURCH gladly invites you to worship with us. We are Sikeston's newest church and we think we may be one of the most enthusiastic, too. We meet now in the old Scott County Milling Company building at 110 E. Center Street. Our permanent building is under construction at the north edge of the city on Highway 61. There is no need to wait, though, until our new commodious facilities are completed. Visit us now in the warmth and intimacy of our present surroundings. Morning worship is at 10:35 A.M. Evening worship is at 7:00 P.M. Sunday School is at 9:30 A.M. You will receive a cordial welcome, I assure you.

Sincerely,

Robert E. Lively, Pastor
